Database Of Dreams The Lost Quest To Catalog Humanity:

Database of Dreams Rebecca Maura Lemov, 2015-01-01 Just a few years before the dawn of the digital age Harvard psychologist Bert Kaplan set out to build the largest database of sociological information ever assembled It was the mid 1950s and social scientists were entranced by the human insights promised by Rorschach tests and other innovative scientific protocols Kaplan along with anthropologist A I Hallowell and a team of researchers sought out a varied range of non European subjects among remote and largely non literate peoples around the globe Recording their dreams stories and innermost thoughts in a vast database Kaplan envisioned future researchers accessing the data through the cutting edge Readex machine Almost immediately however technological developments and the obsolescence of the theoretical framework rendered the project irrelevant and eventually it was forgotten In a scrupulously researched and captivating new book Rebecca Lemov recounts the story of Kaplan s quest and brings to light an informative and disturbing chapter in the prehistory of Big Data Dust jacket

The Scientific Method Henry M. Cowles, 2020-04-14 The surprising history of the scientific method from an evolutionary account of thinking to a simple set of steps and the rise of psychology in the nineteenth century The idea of a single scientific method shared across specialties and teachable to ten year olds is just over a hundred years old For centuries prior science had meant a kind of knowledge made from facts gathered through direct observation or deduced from first principles But during the nineteenth century science came to mean something else a way of thinking The Scientific Method tells the story of how this approach took hold in laboratories the field and eventually classrooms where science was once taught as a natural process Henry M Cowles reveals the intertwined histories of evolution and experiment from Charles Darwin s theory of natural selection to John Dewey s vision for science education Darwin portrayed nature as akin to a man of science experimenting through evolution while his followers turned his theory onto the mind itself Psychologists reimagined the scientific method as a problem solving adaptation a basic feature of cognition that had helped humans prosper This was how Dewey and other educators taught science at the turn of the twentieth century but their organic account was not to last Soon the scientific method was reimagined as a means of controlling nature not a product of it By shedding its roots in evolutionary theory the scientific method came to seem far less natural but far more powerful This book reveals the origin of a fundamental modern concept Once seen as a natural adaptation the method soon became a symbol of science s power over nature a power that until recently has rarely been called into question

Common Phantoms Alicia Puglionesi, 2020-08-25 S ances clairvoyance and telepathy captivated public imagination in the United States from the 1850s well into the twentieth century Though skeptics dismissed these experiences as delusions a new kind of investigator emerged to seek the science behind such phenomena With new technologies like the telegraph collapsing the boundaries of time and space an explanation seemed within reach As Americans took up psychical experiments in their homes the boundaries of the mind began to waver Common Phantoms brings these experiments back to life while modeling a new approach to the history of psychology and the mind sciences Drawing on previously untapped archives of participant reported data Alicia Puglionesi recounts how an eclectic group of investigators tried to capture the most elusive dimensions of human consciousness A vast though flawed experiment in democratic science psychical research gave participants valuable tools with which to study their experiences on their own terms Academic psychology would ultimately disown this effort as both a scientific failure and a remnant of magical thinking but its challenge to the limits of science the mind and the soul still reverberates today

Technologies of Speculation

Sun-ha Hong,2020-07-28 An inquiry into what we can know in an age of surveillance and algorithms Knitting together contemporary technologies of datafication to reveal a broader underlying shift in what counts as knowledge Technologies of Speculation reframes today s major moral and political controversies around algorithms and artificial intelligence How many times we toss and turn in our sleep our voluminous social media activity and location data our average resting heart rate and body temperature new technologies of state and self surveillance promise to re enlighten the black boxes of our bodies and minds But Sun ha Hong suggests that the burden to know and to digest this information at alarming rates is stripping away the liberal subject that knows for themselves and risks undermining the pursuit of a rational public What we choose to track and what kind of data is extracted from us shapes a society in which my own experience and sensation is increasingly overruled by data driven systems From the rapidly growing Quantified Self community to large scale dragnet data collection in the name of counter terrorism and drone warfare Hong argues that data s promise of objective truth results in new cultures of speculation In his analysis of the Snowden affair Hong demonstrates an entirely new way of thinking through what we could know and the political and philosophical stakes of the belief that data equates to knowledge When we simply cannot process all the data at our fingertips he argues we look past the inconvenient and the complicated to favor the comprehensible In the process racial stereotypes and other longstanding prejudices re enter our newest technologies by the back door Hong reveals the moral and philosophical equations embedded into the algorithmic eye that now follows us all
