

Floor Belts

On early production machines with chain drive, there must be 1-1/2 IN (38 mm) spacing between the floor belts (lower set) and the roller. On late production machines with v-belt pickup drive, there must be 1 IN (25 mm) spacing between the floor belts and the roller. Stand on the floor belts at the point shown in the diagram to check the dimension. If adjustment is needed, see the following procedure.

Adjustment

The following procedure will apply to each end of the rollers being adjusted:

1. Loosen three hex nuts on the floor belt adjustment plate as shown.
2. To tighten the belt, turn the adjustment nut to draw the adjustment plate forward. Make sure the adjustment is the same on both sides of the baler.
3. Tighten three hex nuts.
