Color Lines and Racial Angles Douglas Hartmann, Christopher Uggen, 2014 Assembling the most provocative productive new thinking on race in one volume Inequality in the 21st Century David Grusky, Jasmine Hill, 2018-05-15 This book provides selections from the seminal works of Karl Marx Max Weber W E B Du Bois and Charlotte Perkins Gilman that reveal some of the reasons why class race and gender inequalities have proven very adaptive and can flourish even today in the 21st century The Asian American Achievement Paradox Jennifer Lee, Min Zhou, 2015-06-30 Asian Americans are often stereotyped as the model minority Their sizeable presence at elite universities and high household incomes have helped construct the narrative of Asian American exceptionalism While many scholars and activists characterize this as a myth pundits claim that Asian Americans educational attainment is the result of unique cultural values In The Asian American Achievement Paradox sociologists Jennifer Lee and Min Zhou offer a compelling account of the academic achievement of the children of Asian immigrants Drawing on in depth interviews with the adult children of Chinese immigrants and Vietnamese refugees and survey data Lee and Zhou bridge sociology and social psychology to explain how immigration laws institutions and culture interact to foster high achievement among certain Asian American groups For the Chinese and Vietnamese in Los Angeles Lee and Zhou find that the educational attainment of the second generation is strikingly similar despite the vastly different socioeconomic profiles of their immigrant parents Because immigration policies after 1965 favor individuals with higher levels of education and professional skills many Asian immigrants are highly educated when they arrive in the United States They bring a specific success frame which is strictly defined as earning a degree from an elite university and working in a high status field This success frame is reinforced in many local Asian communities which make resources such as college preparation courses and tutoring available to group members including their low income members While the success frame accounts for part of Asian Americans high rates of achievement Lee and Zhou also find that institutions such as public schools are crucial in supporting the cycle of Asian American achievement Teachers and guidance counselors for example who presume that Asian American students are smart disciplined and studious provide them with extra help and steer them toward competitive academic programs These institutional advantages in turn lead to better academic performance and outcomes among Asian American students Yet the expectations of high achievement come with a cost the notion of Asian American success creates an achievement paradox in which Asian Americans who do not fit the success frame feel like failures or racial outliers While pundits ascribe Asian American success to the assumed superior traits intrinsic to Asian culture Lee and Zhou show how historical cultural and institutional elements work together to confer advantages to specific populations An insightful counter to notions of culture based on stereotypes The Asian American Achievement Paradox offers a deft and nuanced understanding how and why certain immigrant groups succeed Not Fit for Our Society Peter Schrag, 2010-05-01 In a book of deep and telling ironies Peter Schrag provides essential background for understanding the fractious debate over immigration Covering the earliest days of the Republic to current events Schrag sets the modern immigration controversy within the context of three centuries of debate over the same questions about who exactly is fit for citizenship He finds that nativism has long colored our national history and that the fear and loathing of newcomers has provided one of the faultlines of American cultural and political life Schrag describes the eerie similarities between the race based arguments for restricting Irish German Slav Italian Jewish and Chinese immigrants in the past and the arguments for restricting Latinos and others today He links the terrible history of eugenic science to ideas individuals and groups now at the forefront of the fight against rational immigration policies Not Fit for Our Society makes a powerful case for understanding the complex often paradoxical history of immigration restriction as we work through the issues that inform and often distort the debate over who can become a citizen who decides and on what basis The School Executive ,1947

Journalism's Racial Reckoning Brad Clark,2022-03-27 This book addresses endemic issues of racism in news media at what is a critical moment in time as journalists around the world speak out en masse against the prejudice and inequality in the industry As the events of 2020 the death of George Floyd the rise in prominence of the Black Lives Matter movement have drawn new and focused attention to inequality white supremacy and systemic racism including in the media this volume chronicles this racial reckoning revisiting and examining the issues that it has raised The author analyses media output by racialized and Indigenous journalists identifying the racial make up of newsrooms the dominance of white perspectives in news coverage interpretations of ethics downplaying systemic racism and bias ignorance of racist history in editorial decisions and news content and diversity and inclusion measures The actions taken by news organizations in response to the reckoning are also detailed and placed in the context of existing race and media scholarship to offer emerging strategies to address journalism s longstanding issues with racism in news content and newsrooms Grounding the interplay between news media and race within this pivotal moment in history this text will be an important resource for students and scholars of journalism journalism ethics sociology cultural studies organizational studies media and communication studies Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1993-11 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin s iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1993-11 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin s iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world The American Hebrew ,1924 The New York State Exhibitor ... ,1929
