Dead Sea Level Haim Goren, 2011-02-28 In the nineteenth century The Dead Sea and the Tigris Euphrates river system had great political significance the one as a possible gateway for a Russian invasion of Egypt the other as a potentially faster route to India This is the traditional explanation for the presence of the international powers in the region This important new book questions this view Through a study of two important projects of the time international efforts to determine the exact level of the Dead Sea and Chesney's Euphrates Expedition to find a quicker route to India Professor Goren shows how other forces than the interests of empire were involved He reveals the important role played by private individuals and establishes a wealth of new connections between the key players and he reveals for the first time an important Irish nexus The resulting work adds an important new dimension to our existing understanding of this period

The Eclipse of Liberal Protestantism in the Netherlands Tom-Eric Krijger, 2019-09-16 In The Eclipse of Liberal Protestantism in the Netherlands Tom Eric Krijger is the first to offer a synthesis of the development of the Protestant modernist movement in Dutch religious social cultural and political life between 1870 and 1940 In historiography the liberal Protestant community is said to have lost appeal and influence in these decades due to a lack of theological clarity inner harmony and organisation Analysing liberal Protestants self perception vis vis Christian orthodoxy self understanding as a faith community attitude towards other alternatives to orthodoxy class consciousness literary criticism political commitment and involvement with foreign mission Krijger challenges this view Making an international comparison he argues that the Dutch modernist movement failed to make headway primarily due to liberal Protestant expectations and discourse

Servants of the Kingdom David Bos, 2010 Minister of the Word shepherd and teacher the titles of Dutch pastors exude authority and prestige In the course of the nineteenth century however their social position was slowly undermined by the separation of church and state the emancipation of Catholics and dissenters and the rise of all sorts of secular shepherds and teachers This work of historical sociology analyzes the development of the profession of pastor in the Netherlands Reformed Church focusing on pastors changing relationships with the state the universities other professions and their own congregants It paints a surprising lively and often humorous picture of nineteenth century ecclesiastical and religious life and of the many areas of Dutch society and culture where pastors made their mark in particular the literary world

The Poet and the World Joachim Yeshaya, Elisabeth Hollender, Naoya Katsumata, 2019-07-08 A collection of seventeen essays on pre modern Hebrew poetry in honor of Wout van Bekkum The articles in this volume all seek to examine how the religious cultural and social context in which the poet functioned impacted on and is visible either explicitly or more elliptically in their poetical oeuvre For this purposes a broad understanding of world has been accepted including both the natural world and the constructed one society culture language as well as the spiritual and emotional world History a pillar of the man made constructed world has been used to determine the boundaries from Late Antiquity to the Middle Ages and in instances where the topic connects to older traditions to Early Modern Judaism i.e. pre-modern Hebrew and Aramaic poetry. The articles in this volume, in the breadth of their temporal and spatial range and their multiplicity of approaches and methodologies, highlight the richness of contemporary scholarship on Hebrew poetry. The volume invites the reader to engage with this astonishing body of poetry while providing a glimpse into the world of the pious and the cultures and societies from which they drew their inspiration and to which they made such important contributions. National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1965. Mapping the Holy Land Bruno Schelhaas, Jutta Faehndrich, Haim Goren, 2017-02-28. Mapping the Holy Land provides a unique study of the cartography of the Holy Land during the formative period of its development. Through a detailed study of the work of three of the leading figures of the era: Augustus Petermann, Physical Geographer Royal to Queen Victoria; cartographer Charles Meredith van de Velde, who produced the finest map of the region at the time; and Edward Robinson, founder of modern Palestinology, the authors explore the complex cultural, cartographic, and technical processes that shaped and determined the resulting maps of the region. Making full use of newly discovered archival material and richly illustrated in both colour and black and white, Mapping the Holy Land is essential reading for cartographers, historical geographers, historians of mapmaking, and for all those with an interest in the Holy Land and the history of Palestine. Theological Libraries and Library Associations in Europe, 2022-08-15. During the past 50 years, theological libraries have confronted secularisation and religious pluralism along with revolutionary technological developments that brought not only significant challenges but also unexpected opportunities to adopt new instruments for the transfer of knowledge through the automation and computerisation of libraries. This book shows how European theological libraries tackled these challenges, how they survived by redefining their task by participating in the renewal of scholarly librarianship and by networking internationally. Since 1972, BETH, the Association of European Theological Libraries, has stimulated this process by enabling contacts among a growing number of national library associations all over Europe.

Trinity and Organism James Eglinton, 2012-03-29. This book explores the organic motif found throughout the writings of the Dutch Calvinist theologian Herman Bavinck (1854-1921). Noting that Bavinck uses this motif at key points in the most important loci of theology: Christology, general and special revelation, ecclesiology, and so forth, it seems that one cannot read him carefully without particular attention to his motif of choice: the organic. By examining the sense in which Bavinck views all of reality as a beautiful balance of unity in diversity, James Eglinton draws the reader to Bavinck's constant concern for the doctrine of God as Trinity. If God is the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, Bavinck argues, the creation must be more akin to an organism than a machine. Trinity and organism are thus closely linked concepts. Eglinton critiques and rejects the two Bavinck's: one orthodox and the other modern hermeneutic, so commonplace in discussions of Bavinck's theology. Instead, this book argues for a reunited Herman Bavinck as a figure committed to the participation of historic orthodox theology in the modern world. "The Netherlandish Image after Iconoclasm, 1566-1672" Mia M. Mochizuki, 2017-07-05. Debunking

the myth of the stark white Protestant church interior this study explores the very objects and architectural additions that were in fact added to Netherlandish church interiors in the first century after iconoclasm In charting these additions Mia Mochizuki helps explain the impact of iconoclasm on the cultural topography of the Dutch Golden Age and by extension permits careful scrutiny of a decisive moment in the history of the image Focusing on the Great or St Bavo Church in Haarlem this interdisciplinary book draws on art history history and theology to look at the impact of iconoclasm and reformation on the process of image making in the early modern Netherlands The new objects that began to appear in the early Dutch Reformed Church signaled a dramatic change in the form function and patronage of church art and testified to new roles for church government guild and resident Each chapter in the book introduces a major theme of the nascent Protestant church interior the Word made material the Word made memorial and the Word made manifest which is then explored through the painting sculpture and architecture of the early Dutch Reformed Church The text is heavily illustrated with images of the objects under discussion many of them never before published A large number of these images are from the camera of prize winning photographer Tjeerd Frederikse with additional photography courtesy of E A van Voorden This book unveils defines and reproduces a host of images previously unaddressed by scholarship and links them to more familiar and long studied Dutch paintings It provides a religious art companion to general studies of Dutch Golden Age art and lends greater depth to our understanding of iconoclasm as well as the way in which cultural artifacts and religious material culture reflect and help to shape the values of a community Taking up the challenge of an unusual category of objects for visual analysis this

With Us Always Donald T. Critchlow, Charles H. Parker, 1998-04-02 Although welfare reform is currently the government's top priority most discussions about the public's responsibility to the poor neglect an informed historical perspective This important book provides a crucial examination of past attempts both in this country and abroad to balance the efforts of private charity and public welfare The prominent historians in this collection demonstrate how solutions to poverty are functions of culture religion and politics and how social provisions for the poor have evolved across the centuries
