one companion arriving at Bangor the next day at noon The succeeding morning a relative of mine who is well acquainted with the Penobscot Indians took me in his wagon to Oldtown to assist me in obtaining an Indian for this expedition We were ferried across to the Indian Island in a bateau The ferryman s boy had the key to it but the father who was a blacksmith after a little hesitation cut the chain with a cold chisel on the rock He told me that the Indians were nearly all gone to the seaboard and to Massachusetts partly on account of the smallpox of which they are very much afraid having broken out in Oldtown The old chief Neptune however was there still The first man we saw on the island was an Indian named Joseph Polis whom my relative addressed familiarly as Joe He was dressing a deerskin in his yard The skin was spread over a slanting log and he was scraping it with a stick held by both hands He was stoutly built perhaps a little above the middle height with a broad face and as others said perfect Indian features and complexion His house was a two story white one with blinds the best looking that I noticed there and as good as an average one on a New England village street It was surrounded by a garden and fruit trees single cornstalks standing thinly amid the beans We asked him if he knew any good Indian who would like to go into the woods with us that is to the Allegash Lakes by way of Moosehead and return by the East Branch of the Penobscot
