Chinas Changing Welfare Mix Local Perspectives Routledge Studies On China In Transition:

China's Changing Welfare Mix Beatriz Carrillo, Jane Duckett, 2011-06-10 This book draws attention to two neglected areas in the growing body of research on welfare in China subnational variation and the changing mix of state and non state provision The contributors to this volume demonstrate the diversity of local welfare provision that lies behind broad national policies and programmes Their focus on local diversity is particularly relevant to understanding the welfare system in China because national state programmes are so often organized by local governments in line with the specifics of their economic and social development At the same time that social and economic development is itself independently creating an array of different conditions that shape non state family business and third sector welfare roles Through chapters that draw on original research in eight provinces the book adopts a local perspective to illustrate and explain some of the transformations that are under way and discuss not only local government initiatives and programmes but also the services and support provided by families informal social networks and community or third sector organizations as well as those delivered by private businesses on a commercial for profit basis This book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese society social policy and Chinese studies more widely Beatriz Carrillo is Lecturer in Asian Studies at the University of Technology Sydney Australia Jane Duckett is Professor of Chinese and Comparative Politics at the University of Glasgow UK Social Protection in East Asian Chinese Societies Peter Saunders, Alex Jingwei He, 2019-06-20 Despite its impressive economic growth East Asia is facing daunting challenges in mitigating its social problems including chronic poverty and worsening social inequality The past decade has seen growing scholarly interest in the development of East Asian social policies not only because of the sheer size of the population and its global impact but also due to the stark contrast between this region s economic prosperity and the ongoing issue of severe social inequality This book presents a collection of studies on aspects of social protection in East Asian Chinese societies including Mainland China Taiwan and Hong Kong Contributions by leading social policy scholars working in and on the region aim to promote scholarly understanding of the pressures facing social protection systems in East Asia identify existing gaps and emerging social policy issues and review the effectiveness of existing programmes The evidence presented and insights generated will promote further debate and facilitate meaningful comparative social policy studies in the region and beyond This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Asian Public Policy Managing Social Change and Social Policy in Greater China Ka-Ho Mok, Maggie K. W. Lau, 2013-11-07 East Asia is at the heart of the global economic transformation and the countries of the region are witnessing rapidly changing labour markets alongside the pressure to cut production costs and lower taxes in order to become successful competition states These changes have resulted in increased welfare demands which governments organizations and agencies across the region have had to address This book examines welfare regimes in the Greater China region encompassing mainland China Hong Kong Macao and Taiwan In so doing it explores the ways in which the rapid growth and internationalisation of the economy across Greater China is presenting new social policy challenges that governments social welfare organizations and agencies in the region are having to respond to Rather than simply describing and categorising welfare systems the contributors to this volume add to our understanding of how one of the major economic transformations of the contemporary era in East Asia is shaping welfare provision in the region In turn in this context of economic change they examine the new strategies and measures that have been adopted in order to reduce the heavy burden on the state in terms of welfare provision whilst also attempting to diversify funding and provision sources to meet the pressing welfare needs Based upon extensive fieldwork by leading scholars of social policy this book will appeal to students and scholars of Asian social policy comparative development and social policy social welfare and Chinese studies

Rural Livelihoods in China Heather Xiaoquan Zhang, 2015-03-27 In recent decades China has undergone rapid economic growth industrialisation and urbanisation concomitant with deep and extensive structural and social change profoundly reshaping the country's development landscape and urban rural relationships This book applies livelihoods approaches to deepen our understanding of the changes and continuities related to rural livelihoods within the wider context of political economy of development in post socialist China bridging the urban and rural scenarios and probing the local national and global dynamics that have impacted on livelihood in particular its mobility security and sustainability Presenting theoretically informed and empirically grounded research by leading scholars from across the world this book offers multidisciplinary perspectives on issues central to rural livelihoods development welfare and well being It documents and analyses the processes and consequences of change focusing on social protection of mobile livelihoods particularly rural migrants citizenship rights in the city and the environmental social and political aspects of sustainability in the countryside This book contributes to the current scholarly and policy debates and is among the first attempts to critically reflect on China's market transition and the associated pathways to change It will be of interest to students in international development studies China studies social policy public health political science and environmental studies at undergraduate and postgraduate levels as well as academics policy makers and practitioners who are concerned with China's human and social development in general and agriculture and rural livelihoods in particular

Globalization and Welfare Restructuring in China Huisheng Shou, 2017 By situating China within the broader context of East Asia and against the backdrop of globalization since the 1980s this book examines the institutional origin and development of China's new welfare system Through doing this it provides an understanding of the nature of the Chinese state in dealing with its economy and society in a context of global economic integration A global local dynamics framework highlights the importance of the interactive relationship between China's integration into the world economy and its unique geopolitical constraints which together induce the regime to listen to its subjects and follow a move to the middle in welfare restructuring

Constructing a Social Welfare System for All in China China Development Research Foundation, 2013-03-01 China Development Research Foundation is one of the leading economic think tanks in China where many of the details of China's economic reform have been formulated. Its work and publications therefore provide great insights into what the Chinese themselves think about economic reform and how it should develop. This book sets out the general objectives, principles and framework of a proposed new social welfare system for China, putting forward relevant policy recommendations. It provides a comprehensive overview of China's current welfare services, including retirement, pensions, education, health, employment, housing, and social security payments, and goes on to cost the proposed new social welfare system and assess the government's capacity for implementing it. It shows how the new system will, within an integrated framework, provide comprehensive welfare for all, including rural and urban citizens, migrant workers, and disadvantaged groups such as rural and urban poor. It also shows how the new system will aim to balance economic and social development whilst maintaining China's high economic growth rate, increasing domestic demand, and promoting economic restructuring.

Educating Migrant Children in China Chengqi Cao, 2024-10. This book explores social citizenship through the lens of investigating local compulsory education policy targeting migrant children in Beijing and Guangzhou. Deploying a multi-case methodology, this book illustrates how these two local governments respond to central decisions on compulsory education for migrant children, the implementation models they employ, and the impact of this unique practice on social citizenship boundary redefinition through single and cross-case analysis. It helps readers understand the evolution of compulsory education policy and its effects on access to schooling for migrant children and clearly illustrates this policy's implications for social citizenship. Revealing the important relationship between the central and lower levels of government in China, this book will appeal to students and scholars of education, social policy, as well as those with an interest in Chinese culture and society.

Marginalisation in China Heather Xiaoquan Zhang, Bin Wu, Richard Sanders, 2007. Marginalization and Social Welfare in China Linda Wong, 2005-07-25. This book provides a systematic analysis that defines and accounts for the contours and operation of China's welfare system. It is underpinned by recent empirical research and strong comparative theory and will be welcomed as a significant advance in furthering our understanding of social welfare in China.
