

The background is a dramatic landscape painting. It features a deep valley with steep, rugged mountains. The sky is dark and cloudy, with a lighter patch where the sun or moon might be. The foreground shows a dark, rocky path or riverbed. A semi-transparent dark box is overlaid on the upper part of the image, containing the title text in white serif font.

dans la Vallee English The Lily of the Valley is an 1835 novel about love and society by French novelist and playwright Honor de Balzac 1799 1850 It concerns the affection emotionally vibrant but never consummated between Felix de Vandenesse and Henriette de Mortsau It is part of his series of novels or Roman fleuve known as La Com die humaine The Human Comedy which parodies and depicts French society in the period of the Restoration and the July Monarchy 1815 1848 In his novel he also mention the chateau Champcenetz that still can be visited if you want experience what Balzac wrote about Maitre Cornelius Honore de Balzac, 2015-12-28 CHAPTER I A CHURCH SCENE OF THE FIFTEENTH CENTURY In 1479 on All Saints day the moment at which this history begins vespers were ending in the cathedral of Tours The archbishop Helie de Bourdeilles was rising from his seat to give the benediction himself to the faithful The sermon had been long darkness had fallen during the service and in certain parts of the noble church the towers of which were not yet finished the deepest obscurity prevailed Nevertheless a goodly number of tapers were burning in honor of the saints on the triangular candle trays destined to receive such pious offerings the merit and signification of which have never been sufficiently explained The lights on each altar and all the candelabra in the choir were burning Irregularly shed among a forest of columns and arcades which supported the three naves of the cathedral the gleam of these masses of candles barely lighted the immense building because the strong shadows of the columns projected among the galleries produced fantastic forms which increased the darkness that already wrapped in gloom the arches the vaulted ceilings and the lateral chapels always sombre even at mid day The crowd presented effects that were no less picturesque Certain figures were so vaguely defined in the chiaroscuro that they seemed like phantoms whereas others standing in a full gleam of the scattered light attracted attention like the principal heads in a picture Some statues seemed animated some men seemed petrified Here and there eyes shone in the flutings of the columns the floor reflected looks the marbles spoke the vaults re echoed sighs the edifice itself seemed endowed with life The existence of Peoples has no more solemn scenes no moments more majestic To mankind in the mass movement is needed to make it poetical but in these hours of religious thought when human riches unite themselves with celestial grandeur incredible sublimities are felt in the silence there is fear in the bended knee hope in the clasping hands The concert of feelings in which all souls are rising heavenward produces an inexplicable phenomenon of spirituality The mystical exaltation of the faithful reacts upon each of them the feeble are no doubt borne upward by the waves of this ocean of faith and love Prayer a power electrical draws our nature above itself This involuntary union of all wills equally prostrate on the earth equally risen into heaven contains no doubt the secret of the magic influences wielded by the chants of the priests the harmonies of the organ the perfumes and the pomps of the altar the voices of the crowd and its silent contemplations Consequently we need not be surprised to see in the middle ages so many tender passions begun in churches after long ecstasies passions ending often in little sanctity and for which women as usual were the ones to do penance Religious sentiment certainly had in those days an affinity with love it was either the motive or the end of it Love was still a religion with its fine fanaticism its naive superstitions its sublime devotions which sympathized with those of Christianity
