Dobbert

Ph.D., Thomas X. Mackey, 2015-07-14 Contributors to this unique book explain and compare major theories drawn from several academic fields to uncover the root causes of deviance In this unparalleled exploration of antisocial and aberrant behavior criminologists and other experts examine the theoretical perspectives of 15 classical psychological political science and economics scholars to shed light on the impetus for deviant behaviors Murder mayhem robbery sexual assault and sexual activity with minor children are among the degenerate behaviors cited Each chapter focuses on the effectiveness of a specific theory and considers conundrums such as Does the Darwinian approach explain sexual assault as a drive to procreate Can B F Skinner s theoretical perspective explain pedophilia and Can an individual be incompetent at the time of an offense and competent at the time of the trial The book reveals how the major psychological social and environmental doctrines can explain the behaviors and patterns of a nonconforming mindset The work addresses the theories of well known thinkers like Karl Marx Charles Darwin Travis Hirschi and Sigmund Freud among others Building a Black Criminology, Volume 24 James D. Unnever, Shaun L. Gabbidon, Cecilia Chouhy, 2018-10-26 In light of the Black Lives Matter movement and protests in many cities race plays an ever more salient role in crime and justice Within theoretical criminology however race has oddly remained on the periphery It is often introduced as a control variable in tests of theories and is rarely incorporated as a central construct in mainstream paradigms e g control social learning and strain theories When race is discussed the standard approach is to embrace the racial invariance thesis which argues that any racial differences in crime are due to

African Americans being exposed to the same criminogenic risk factors as are Whites just more of them An alternative perspective has emerged that seeks to identify the unique racially specific conditions that only Blacks experience Within the United States these conditions are rooted in the historical racial oppression experienced by African Americans whose contemporary legacy includes concentrated disadvantage in segregated communities racial socialization by parents experiences with and perceptions of racial discrimination and disproportionate involvement in and unjust treatment by the criminal justice system Importantly racial invariance and race specificity are not mutually exclusive perspectives Evidence exists that Blacks and Whites commit crimes for both the same reasons invariance and for different reasons race specific A full understanding of race and crime thus must involve demarcating both the general and specific causes of crime the latter embedded in what it means to be Black in the United States This volume seeks to explore these theoretical issues in a depth and breadth that is not common under one cover Again given the salience of race and crime this volume should be of interest to a wide range of criminologists and have the potential to be used in graduate seminars and upper level undergraduate courses

Christian Hindu and Muslim societies separated by space and level of socioeconomic development follow a common evolutionary path. Given that differences in prison structure and performance exist, what factors—resources, laws, leadership, historical accident, institutions, culture—account for differences? Based on more than 150 interviews conducted in ten international trips with prison administrators in 15 male state prisons in the US, Mexico, India, and Honduras, Norris provides ethnographic descriptions of prisons, bureaucracies that are immediately recognizable as similar institutions but that nonetheless possessed distinctive forms and developmental trajectories.
