Roger Hallas

Camera Obscura Camera Lucida Essays In Honor Of Annette Michelson:

Camera Obscura, Camera Lucida Richard Allen, Annette Michelson, Malcolm Turvey, 2003 Annette Michelson's contributions to art and film criticism over the last three decades have been unparalleled This volume honors her unique legacy with original essays by some of the many scholars who have been influenced by her work Some continue her efforts to develop theoretical frameworks for understanding modernist art while others practice her form of interdisciplinary criticism in relation to avant garde and modernist art works and artists Still others investigate and evaluate Michelson's work itself All in some way pay homage to her extraordinary contribution

A Medium Seen Otherwise Roger Hallas, 2023 Through a new look at how political historical and art documentaries engage with photographic images objects and archives A Medium Seen Otherwise argues that film allows us to better understand what people do with analog and digital photographs as material objects that enable social and political relations through multisensory experience Moreover as a time based medium with sound film can bring the event of photography into fuller view demonstrating how no single participant in it photographer subject camera photograph or viewer has sovereignty over its affect meaning or value The book thus explores the ways in which the innovative incorporation of photography into documentary film permits us to see both of these media otherwise Photographs whether professional or vernacular are conventionally understood to furnish documentaries with indexical evidence and visual illustration of history yet the spatio temporal and aural dimensions of film permit documentaries to illuminate photography's wider capacities beyond the merely representational Combining new critical perspectives on well known documentary filmmakers and photographers Agnès Varda Rithy Panh Edward Burtynsky Malick Sidibé Vivian Maier JR Ken Burns Errol Morris and Akram Zaatari with analyses of lesser known but important documentaries author Roger Hallas investigates a global range of documentary and vernacular photographic contexts including Lebanon Palestine Mali Congo Cambodia Ireland Spain Mexico Chile Canada and the US While authorship and representation remain common rhetorical frameworks for documentaries about photography A Medium Seen Otherwise offers a compelling account of how the intermediality between documentary film and photography can posit far more expansive conceptions of both media A companion website shows clips of films discussed in the book

Stop Reading! Look! Pepper Stetler, 2015-12-07 Examines the connections between the emergence of Weimar photographic books and modern conceptions of photographic meaning

Philosophy, Black Film, Film Noir, 2008 Examines how African American as well as international films deploy film noir techniques in ways that encourage philosophical reflection Combines philosophy film studies and cultural studies Provided by publisher

Film Architecture and the Transnational Imagination Tim Bergfelder, Sue Harris, Sarah Street, 2007 Summary Film Architecture and the Transnational Imagination presents for the first time a comparative study of European film set design in the late 1920s and 1930s based on a wealth of designers drawings film stills and archival documents the book offers a new insight into the development and significance of trans national artistic collaboration during this period European cinema from the late 1920s to the late 1930s is famous for its attention to detail in terms of set design and visual effect Focusing on developments in Britain France and Germany Film Architecture and the Transnational Imagination Set Design in 1930s European Cinema provides a comprehensive analysis of the practices styles and function of cinematic production design during this period and its influence on subsequent filmmaking patterns Publisher description

Dancing with the Modernist City Wesley Lim,2024-07-22 As the 20th century dawned authors artists and filmmakers flocked to cities like Paris and Berlin for a chance to experience a bustling urban life and engage with other artists and intellectuals Among them were German speaking authors and filmmakers such as Harry Graf Kessler Rainer Maria Rilke August Endell Alfred Döblin Else Lasker-Schüler Segundo de Chomón and the brothers Max and Emil Skladanowsky In their writing and artistic work from that period they depicted the perpetual influx of stimuli caused by urban life including hordes of pedestrians bustling traffic and a barrage of advertisements as well as how these encounters repeatedly paralleled their experiences of watching early twentieth century dance performances by Loie Fuller Ruth St Denis and Vaslav Nijinsky The convergence these writers and filmmakers saw between the unexpected encounters during their urban strolls and experimental dance performances led to writings that interwove the two motifs Drawing on cultural literary dance performance and queer studies Dancing with the Modernist City analyzes an array of material from 1896 to 1914 essays novels short stories poetry newspaper articles photographs posters drawings and early film It argues that these writers and artists created a genre called the metropolitan dance text which depicts dancing figures not on a traditional stage but with the streets advertising pillars theaters cafes squares and even hospitals of an urban setting Breaking away from the historically male heteronormative view this posthumanist mode of writing highlights the visual and episodic unexpectedness of urban encounters These literary depictions question traditional conceptualizations of space and performance by making the protagonist and the reader feel like they embody the dancer and the movement In doing so they upset the conventional depictions of performance and urban spaces in ways paralleling modern dance

Mapping the Moving Image Pasi Väliäho, 2010 In Mapping the Moving Image Pasi Väliäho offers a compelling study of how the medium of film came to shape our experience and thinking of the world and ourselves By locating the moving image in new ways of seeing and saying as manifest in the arts science and philosophy at the turn of the twentieth century the book redefines the cinema as one of the most important anthropological processes of modernity Moving beyond the typical understanding of cinema based on optical and linguistic models Mapping the Moving Image takes the notion of rhythm as its cue in conceptualizing the medium's morphogenetic potentialities to generate affectivity behaviour and logics of sense It provides a clear picture of how the forms of early film while mobilizing bodily gestures and demanding intimate affective engagement from the viewer emerged in relation to biopolitical investments in the body The book also charts from a fresh perspective how the new gestural dynamics and visuality of the moving image fed into our thinking of time memory and the unconscious

Moving Modernism Nell Andrew, 2020 The emergence of modern dance and the early history of cinema ran concurrent with the European avant-garde's development of pictorial abstraction in the first decades of the 20th century However many assume that modernist abstraction resulted from a century of natural autonomous evolution to painting styles and tastes In Moving Modernism author Nell Andrew challenges this assumption By examining dance and film created during this period she argues that performative modes of art created the link between bodily movement and movement depicted in modernist paintings In a seeming paradox dance and film durational arts involving real bodies in space participated in the development of abstract art With archival material collected in North America and Europe Moving Modernism resurfaces lost performances identifies working methods and establishes the circles of aesthetic influence and reception for avant-garde dance pioneers and experimental film makers from the turn of the century to the interwar period Reexamining the motivation that fueled the emergence of abstraction Andrew claims that painters sought meaning not only in the material and formal picture but also in temporal and sensorial experience Andrew looks at major figures and intellectual movements including Loie Fuller and Symbolism Valentine de Saint Point and the Cubo-Futurist and neo-Symbolist movements and early cinematic abstraction from Edison and the Lumières to Hans Richter and

Marcel Duchamp Close examinations of each figure show that theatrical display embodied self projection and kinesthetic desire are not necessarily in opposition to pictorial abstraction in fact they expand our understanding of the urges that created modern art

Playing the Waves Jan Simons, 2007 Dogma 95 the avant garde filmmaking movement founded by the Danish director Lars von Trier and three of his fellow directors was launched in 1995 at an elite cinema conference in Paris when von Trier was called upon to speak about the future of film but instead showered the audience with pamphlets announcing the new movement and its manifesto A refreshingly original critical commentary on the director and his practice Playing the Waves is a paramount addition to one of new media s most provocative genres games and gaming Playing the Waves cleverly puns on the title of one of von Trier s most famous features and argues that Dogma 95 like much of the director s low budget realist productions is a game that takes cinema beyond the traditional confines of film aesthetics and dramatic rules Simons articulates the ways in which von Trier redefines the practice of filmmaking as a rule bound activity and stipulates the forms and structures of games von Trier brings to bear on his films as well as the sobering lessons he draws from economic and evolutionary game theory Much like the director s films this fascinating volume takes the traditional point of view of film theory and film aesthetics to the next level and demonstrates we have much to learn from the perspective of game studies and game theory
