Cancer Breanne Lechner, Ronald Chow, Natalie Pulenzas, Marko Popovic, Na Zhang, Xiaojing Zhang, Edward Chow, Joav Merrick, 2016 Many cancer patients experience a variety of distressing symptoms adversely affecting their functional status and quality of life QOL Subjective symptoms such as pain fatigue and depression are common among cancer patients with approximately 33 55% of cancer patients experiencing pain during the course of their illness Previous literature commonly examined a single symptom and its effect on patients functional status and QOL but patients often experience multiple symptoms simultaneously Since individual symptoms are often associated with decreased QOL the assumption that symptom clusters might have a greater effect on QOL is logical The coexistence of symptoms provides an insight into the importance of assessing clusters of symptoms rather than focusing on individual symptoms Although the focus of single symptoms has advanced the understanding of those particular symptoms it may not be as helpful to health care professionals in guiding practice when patients present several concurrent symptoms It is important for clinicians to address and ultimately treat all concurrent symptoms Symptom cluster research will help our understanding and treatment of multiple symptoms Cancer Breanne Lechner,2015-12 In early stages of cancer patients are often presented with treatment options and encouraged to have shared treatment decisions with their oncologists Shared decision making becomes particularly important as several treatment options with different possible outcomes and adverse events exist For example women with early breast cancer are counseled on the options of mastectomy versus lumpectomy and radiation The same principle should also apply in late stages of cancer where cure is usually not possible in patients with widespread metastases In these cases the aim of treatment should be to relieve symptoms and suffering Improving quality of life QOL rather than tumor control takes priority in palliative care QOL has also been identified as an important endpoint for new cancer drugs as determined by the Food and Drug Administration FDA as such cancer drug approval can be based on improvement of QOL The use of patient reported QOL instrument tools help clinicians determine if certain treatments improve QOL The research of palliative interventions should have QOL assessment to assist clinicians patients and their family members in shared decision making Who's Who in American Nursing, 1993-1994 ,1993 Who's who in American Nursing ,1993 Cancer Symptom Management Susan L. Groenwald,1997 A Physician's Guide to Pain and Symptom Management in Cancer Patients Janet L. Abrahm,2015-01-01 This highly regarded handbook provides clinicians with the information they need to treat their cancer patients effectively and compassionately This comprehensive guide to managing pain and other symptoms for people with cancer has helped tens of thousands of patients and families Designed for busy practicing clinicians A Physician s Guide to Pain and Symptom Management in Cancer Patients provides primary care physicians advanced practice nurses internists and oncologists with detailed information and advice for alleviating the stress and pain of patients and family members alike Drawing on the work of experts who have developed revolutionary approaches to symptom management and palliative care as well as on the lessons learned from patients and their families during her thirty years as a teacher and clinician Dr Janet L Abrahm shows how physicians and other caregivers can help patients and families heal emotionally even as the disease progresses The third edition includes updates to medications and clinical stories and features two new chapters Working with Patients Families and Sexuality Intimacy and Cancer New lessons from palliative care and hospice care can help patients their professional caregivers and their families support each other every step of the way Cancer Symptom Management Connie Henke Yarbro,Margaret Hansen Frogge,Michelle Goodman,1999 Guidelines for Cancer Care Joyce M.
