Blocking Patents in European Competition Law Angelika S. Murer, 2021-12-03 In practice and jurisprudence in European competition law it is especially difficult to define the boundaries of patent abuse as an offence In this thoroughly researched book the author answers the question of when and how an application for a blocking patent can amount to an abuse of a dominant position under Article 102 TFEU Drawing on legal literature and European Union EU case law the presentation analyses a constellation of blocking patenting strategies and proposes potential remedies where abuse is involved With detailed descriptions of the characteristics of potentially abusive and non abusive behaviour regarding applications for blocking patents the book provides the following and more a comprehensive analysis of the case law of the EU courts on the abuse of a dominant position in cases which involve intellectual property rights insights on how patenting strategies affect competition with a particular focus on the application of blocking patents an overview of the developments in doctrine and practice which led to the current understanding of the seemingly conflictual goals of competition and intellectual property law and insights on the difficulties of defining relevant markets and establishing whether an undertaking holds a dominant position The book illustrates the mechanisms of blocking patenting strategies with examples from the pharmaceutical industry because blocking strategies have particular relevance in applying for patents in that context A test scheme for analysing the application of a blocking patent under Article 102 TFEU is included Additionally the book provides an outlook on the topic of patents and shortages of supply in light of the COVID pandemic Practitioners and policymakers requiring an understanding of the conceptual framework of the abuse concept within EU competition law and how it relates to patent strategies will welcome this invaluable book They will not only be able to set the conduct of applying for blocking patents into the Article 102 TFEU context but also have decisive tools to approach questions on the intersection of patent law and competition law in the EU

EU Liability and International Economic Law Armin Steinbach, 2017-06-01 The book provides both a legal and economic assessment of an increasingly important issue for the EU the question of whether individuals can hold the European Union liable for damages they suffer due to its infringement of international economic law However liability regimes vary depending on the issue concerned In international trade law the individual holds a weak position being deprived of both legal remedies to seek annulment and damages This is due to the constant refusal of the direct effect of WTO law By contrast international investment law has been designed in an individualistic manner from the outset states agree reciprocally to grant certain procedural and substantial individual rights which they invoke to claim damages before international tribunals rather than domestic courts The divergent role of the individual in the respective area of international economic law leads to a different set of research questions related to liability In international trade law the doctrinal exercise of de coupling the notion of direct effect from liability is at the core of establishing liability In international investment law liability is connected to a number of issues emerging from the recent transfer of competence pertaining to investment issues from Member States to the EU and the nature of investment agreements as mixed agreements Against this backdrop exploring liability issues in the area of international economic law reveals a heterogeneous set of questions depending on the area of law concerned thus offering different perspectives for studying liability issues This title is included in Bloomsbury Professional s International Arbitration online service

The Europeanisation of International Family

Law N. A. Baarsma, 2011-09-06 Choice of law determines which national legal system applies to an international case. Currently many choice of law rules in the field of family law are regulated by national law. However these national rules of the EU Member States are more and more displaced by common European rules. This book describes the changes brought by the Europeanisation of the choice of law on divorce. From the conclusions drawn in the field of divorce the concluding chapter discusses the changes of Europeanisation of international family law in a broader perspective.
