The father-daughter relationship was one that Shakespeare explored again and again His typical pattern featured a middle-aged or older man usually a widower with an adolescent daughter who had spent most of her life under her father's control protected in his house The plays usually begin when the daughter is on the verge of womanhood and eager to assert her own identity and make her own decisions especially in matters of the heart even if it means going against her father's wishes This work considers Capulet in Romeo and Juliet as an inept father to Juliet and Prospero in The Tempest as an able mentor to Miranda Hermia in A Midsummer Night's Dream Jessica in The Merchant of Venice and Desdemona in Othello as daughters who rebel against their fathers Hero in Much Ado About Nothing Lavinia in Titus Andronicus and Ophelia in Hamlet as daughters who acquiesce Bianca in The Taming of the Shrew and Goneril and Regan in King Lear as daughters who cunningly play the good girl role Portia in The Merchant of Venice Viola in Twelfth Night and Rosalind in As You Like It as daughters who act in their fathers' places and Marina in Pericles Perdita in The Winter's Tale and Cordelia in Lear as daughters who forgive and heal Transcendent Daughters in Jewett's Country of the Pointed Firs Joseph Church, 1994 Adopting a psychoanalytic approach Joseph Church's Transcendent Daughters proposes that the narrator's venture among these people in fact allegorizes an anxious daughter's return to familial origins and dramatizes her reengagement with and effort to transcend unconscious constituents of the self established during early maturation specifically androgynous composites of an internalized hostile mother and idealized father that now severely constrict her world most of all her access to beneficent women Prospero's Daughter Joanna O'Connell, 2010-07-22 A member of Mexico's privileged upper class yet still subordinated because of her gender Rosario Castellanos became one of Latin America's most influential feminist social critics Joanna O'Connell here offers the first book-length study of all Castellanos prose writings focusing specifically on how Castellanos experiences as a Mexican woman led her to an ethic of solidarity with the oppressed peoples of her home state of Chiapas O'Connell provides an original and detailed analysis of Castellanos' first venture into feminist cultural analysis in her essay Sobre cultura femenina 1950 and traces her moral and intellectual trajectory as feminist and social critic An overview of Mexican indigenismo establishes the context for individual chapters on Castellanos' narratives of ethnic conflict the novels Balún Canán and Oficio de tinieblas and the short stories of Ciudad Real In further chapters O'Connell reads Los convidados de agosto Album de familia and Castellanos' four collections of essays as developments of her feminist social analysis Prospero's Daughters Joanna O'Connell, 1988 Race and the Unconscious Celia Britton, 2017-12-02 Freud is often accused of eurocentrism of making unjustifiable generalizations on the basis of European family structures Although French Caribbean intellectuals such as Fanon Césaire and Glissant have joined in these criticisms they have also made strikingly positive use of psychoanalysis Much intellectual energy has been invested in notions of repression the Oedipus complex and the psychoanalytic cure while at the same time Freudianism has been no less vigorously criticized for its political quietism and its potential as a means of social control Thus Freudian theory and the controversies it arouses remains a surprisingly persistent cultural element The crucial issue is the link between the unconscious and race In this groundbreaking study Britton looks at the different ways in which Freudian psychoanalysis has been incorporated into arguments about racial identity and difference in the French Caribbean
