Climate Change And Conflict Prevention:

Climate Change and Conflict Prevention J. Andrew J. Andrew Plowman, 2015-04-29 In Climate Change and Conflict Prevention Lessons from Darfur J. Andrew Plowman uses the Darfur conflict as a case study to examine how the effects of climate change might lead to future violent conflicts. He assesses the best way to prevent these conflicts. Plowman reviews the environmental security literature and applies events from Darfur to climate change models. His research suggests that climate change is likely to increase the potential for intrastate and communal conflicts as populations adjust to changes in the environmental systems that support their livelihoods. Ultimately, Plowman's examination of the Darfur conflict recommends a focus on structural conflict prevention through building adaptability to climate change and through the strengthening of institutions particularly in fragile states.

Climate Change and European Security Richard Youngs, 2014-10-10 It is now commonly asserted that climate change will fundamentally change international relations. It has been predicted that global warming will increase conflict within and between states, intensify food insecurity, menace the global trading system, and unleash waves of migration. As a result, governments are beginning to incorporate these warnings into their foreign policy initiatives. The appropriateness of their incipient responses needs to be examined in finer detail. This book looks at the impact of climate change on European Union (EU) security policy. It explores how governments are reconfiguring their geo-strategy and broader international relations in the wake of climate change warnings. The book demonstrates that although many aspects of EU foreign policies have begun to change, climate security is not yet accorded unequivocal or sufficient priority. In doing so, Youngs argues that if climate change policies are to have significant effect, they can no longer be treated as a separate area of policy but must be incorporated into the more mainstream debates pertinent to EU common foreign and security policy (CFSP). This book will be of key interest to students, scholars, and practitioners of climate change and policy, energy and environmental policy, EU governance and foreign policy, European studies, international relations, geography, security studies, policy and environmental economics.

Unraveling the Storm: A Chaotic Dance of Climate and Conflict Alexis Hansen, In this riveting book, Hansen delves into the intricate connection between climate change and its consequences on global conflicts. He peers into an uncertain future where the ever-changing climate sparks a surge in conflicts over dwindling resources, triggers vast displacements, and ignites fierce geopolitical tensions. As the stakes escalate higher than ever before, he explores the intricate web encompassing climate change and conflict and uncovers the grave implications for our world.

Conflict Prevention in the Era of Climate Change Adam Day, Jessica Caus, 2019

Conflict Prevention in the UN's Agenda 2030 Bertrand Ramcharan, Robin Ramcharan, 2020-01-27 This book analyses the UN's Agenda 2030 and reveals that progress is lagging on all five interlocking and interdependent themes that are discussed: conflict prevention, development, peace, justice, and human rights. Many voices have already been raised, including that of the UN Secretary General, that the Sustainable Development

Goals will not be met by 2030 unless there is a re doubling of efforts Still on development as such there is much striving The book puts the concept of preventive diplomacy into all of the issues of modern international relations from the US China confrontation to the various conflicts bedeviling Africa It bridges the two worlds of the international relations specialist on the one hand and that of the academic interested in UN affairs on the other hand There is normally little contact between those two specializations The authors have taken several current issues to show how the millennium debates and the SDG targets are relevant to realist school conflicts and that there is work under way to operationalize ideas and theories in this respect This is the first ever discussion of the conflict prevention dimension in the UN s Agenda 2030 which seeks to advance sustainable development with a view to reinforcing peace and justice on the foundations of respect for universal human rights

Contemporary Conflict Resolution Oliver Ramsbotham,Hugh Miall,Tom Woodhouse,2011-04-11 Offering an assessment of the theory and practice of conflict resolution in post Cold War conflicts this book addresses a number of questions It explores the nature of contemporary conflict and the development of conflict resolution

Migration and Conflict in a Global Warming Era Silja Klepp,Christiane Fröhlich,2020-11-18 This Special Issue explores underrepresented aspects of the political dimensions of global warming It includes post and decolonial perspectives on climate related migration and conflict intersectional approaches and climate change politics as a new tool of governance Its aim is to shed light on the social phenomena associated with anthropogenic climate change as well as its multidimensional and far reaching political effects including climate induced migration movements and climate related conflicts in different parts of the world In doing so it critically engages with securitizing discourses and the resulting anti migration arguments and policies in the Global North in order to identify and give a voice to alternative and hitherto underrepresented research and policy perspectives In this way it aims to contribute to a fact based critical and holistic approach to human mobility and conflict in the context of political and environmental crisis
