Research Advances on Forest Tree Functional Genomics and Breeding, 2025-01-17 Forest trees play a key role in terrestrial biodiversity and contribute to carbon sequestration Forest trees also exhibit a rich array of agronomic and economic traits making them ideal as important species for studying functional genes for the unique characteristics of forest tree species Fast growing forest plantations are sustainable feedstocks of plant biomass that can serve as substitutes for fossil carbon resources for materials chemicals and energy The first annotated whole genome sequence of the model woody plant Populus trichocarpa was published in 2006 Since then many forest tree species have been sequenced and annotated which has facilitated the development of functional genomics GWAS genetic tools and new biotechnologies in tree research Targeted functional genomics allows us to identify genes that affect traits of interest such as agronomic and economic traits wood properties and biotic stress resistance Molecular biology based biotechnologies allow us to manipulate these genes and traits The breakthroughs in biotechnology approaches together with accelerated genomic breeding will be crucial for the functional revealing of important genes for key traits and the development of a new generation of woody crops helping us to keep up with the growing demand for wood fiber and other bioproducts from forest trees This Research Topic aims to explore the molecular mechanisms of key biological processes in model and non model forest tree species with a combination of approaches of genetics omics and chemistry Also new technologies and resources used for forest tree species research are of equal importance to basic science We encourage fundamental research in the field of forest tree genomics genetic studies in revealing the genes and pathways associated with key agronomic and economic traits in forest trees molecular mechanisms of secondary growth regulation in tree species and the potential utilization of biotechnologies in genetic improvement of woody crops We welcome all types of submissions including original research reviews methodologies mini reviews perspectives and opinion articles in this field including but not limited to research covering Genetic and functional characterization of genes regulating perennial tree secondary growth Genetic improvement in woody tree crops using gene editing and other modern biotechnologies Discovery characterization and application of germplasm resources with agronomic and economic traits New technologies and resources for forest tree research

Exploring Volatile Organic Compounds in Fruits and Flowers: Aroma, Biosynthesis, and Ecological Impact Robin Joshi, Vikas Dadwal, Mariam Gaid, Deepak Kumar Jha, 2025-10-28 Volatile Organic Compounds VOCs including terpenes aldehydes alcohols esters and ketones are essential for the characteristic aroma and flavour of fruits and flowers These compounds which evaporate easily at room temperature also fulfill critical ecological roles such as attracting pollinators and serving as plant defenses Despite their significance the understanding of VOC s biosynthesis and their molecular mechanisms varies significantly across different plants and the complex interactions between VOCs and ecological factors like pollinator attraction remain underexplored This Research Topic aims to deepen the investigative study of VOCs specifically in fruits and flowers The primary goal is to elucidate the key ester associated volatiles that contribute to the unique aromas and flavours in various fruits and flowers It further seeks to decode the biosynthesis pathways of these compounds while highlighting the instrumental roles of specific genes and transcription factors in scent formation Lastly the research will probe into the linkage between VOC emissions and their ecological functions particularly in pollinator attraction and plant defense To gather further insights in the realm of VOC studies in botany we welcome articles addressing but not limited to the following themes Identification of key ester related volatile compounds in different types of fruits and flowers Investigation of the biosynthesis pathways of these volatile compounds Study of the role of key genes and transcription factors in aroma formation Exploration of the potential relationship between VOCs and pollinator attraction Examination of the impact of these compounds on plant defense mechanisms
