Corpus Based Contrastive Studies Of English And Chinese:

Corpus-Based Contrastive Studies of English and Chinese Tony McEnery, Richard Xiao, 2010-07-02 This volume represents the first book length corpus based contrastive studies of major grammatical categories in English and Chinese two most important yet distinctly different world languages in the 21st century on the basis of large matching corpora of authentic spoken and written data in the two languages

Corpus-Based Studies of Translational Chinese in English-Chinese Translation Richard Xiao, Xian Yao Hu, 2015-07-16 This book takes a corpus based approach which integrates translation studies and contrastive analysis to the study of translational language It presents the world's first balanced corpus of translational Chinese which in combination with a comparable native Chinese corpus provides a reliable empirical basis for a comprehensive account of the macro statistical lexical and grammatical features of translational Chinese in English to Chinese translation a significant contribution to Descriptive Translation Studies The research findings based on these two distinctly different languages have important implications for universal translation research on the European tradition

Corpus-Based Contrastive Studies of English and Chinese Tony McEnery, Richard Xiao, 2010-07-02 This book is concerned with cross linguistic contrast of major grammatical categories in English and Chinese two most important yet genetically different world languages This genetic difference has resulted in many subsidiary differences that are among other things related to grammar Compared with typologically related languages cross linguistic contrast of English and Chinese is more challenging yet promising The main theme of this book lies in its focus on cross linguistic contrast of aspect related grammatical categories or grammatical categories that contribute to aspectual meaning both situation aspect at the semantic level and viewpoint aspect at the grammatical level in English and Chinese The unique strength of this volume lies in that it is first corpus based book contrasting English and Chinese Given that the state of the art in language studies is to use corpora the significance of the marriage between contrastive studies and the corpus methodology in this book is not to be underestimated

A Corpus-based Contrastive Study of the Appraisal Systems in English and Chinese Scientific Research Articles Xu Yuchen, Yan Xuan, Su Rui, Kou Ying, 2021-12-28 Appraisal is the way language users express their attitude towards things people behaviour or ideas In the last few decades significant achievements have been made in Appraisal Theory research yet little attention has been paid to appraisal in scientific texts especially in relation to the contrast to how it is applied in English and Chinese This title examines the similarities and differences of Appraisal systems in English and Chinese scientific research articles Using a self constructed corpus of scientific research articles the authors make cross linguistic comparisons in terms of the quantity and distribution patterns of categories of appraisals They creatively categorise articles into theoretical scientific research articles and applied studies and discover that for both languages each genre can have its own favorite mode of distribution for the realization of appraisal systems In addition this research helps appraisal theory systems to become more explicit specific and more applicable for the analysis of scientific
