

Chemical Reactions: Guided Notes

What is a chemical reaction?

1. A chemical reaction is a process that leads to the transformation of one set of chemical substances to another.
2. Reactants are the substances that start a chemical reaction.
3. Products are the substances that are produced in the reaction.

Evidence of a Chemical Reaction

Observing these clues can indicate that a chemical reaction has occurred:

1. Change in Temperature: Reactions can release heat (exothermic) or absorb it (endothermic).
2. Formation of a Precipitate: A precipitate is a solid that forms from a solution during a chemical reaction.
3. Production of Gas: Some reactions release gases, which you might see as bubbles.
4. Change in Color: A change in color often signals a new substance has formed.
5. Change in Odor: A change in odor can also indicate a new substance has formed.

Chemical Equations

1. A chemical equation is a symbolic representation of a chemical reaction.
2. (s), (l), (g), and (aq) are symbols used to indicate the physical state of the substances involved in a reaction.
3. The arrow in a chemical equation separates the reactants from the products.

Balancing Chemical Equations

1. The law of conservation of mass states that matter cannot be created or destroyed in a chemical reaction.
2. To balance a chemical equation, you must have the same number of atoms of each element on both sides of the equation.
3. You can balance an equation by changing the coefficients in front of the chemical formulas.
