Psychological Assessment and Therapy with Older Adults Bob G. Knight, Nancy A. Pachana, 2015-01-08 Due to improvements in health and healthcare the elderly population is expanding rapidly within the developed world However more and more elderly people require some form of psychological support at some point in their later years The types of problems faced by this population are quite distinct and often more complex than those faced by younger adults and throw up many new challenges in both assessment and treatment Though there are books available that focus individually on assessment or treatment few have combined the two into a single framework Within this book Knight and Pachana argue that psychological assessment needs to be more tightly integrated with therapy especially with older adult clients Using the Contextual Adult Lifespan Theory for Adapting Psychotherapy CALTAP as a framework for applying our knowledge about developmental social contextual and cohort generational factors that influence age differences in response to psychological assessment and therapy they present an integrated framework for psychological assessment and therapy with older adults This text is valuable for practitioners looking for a solid theoretical basis for the practice of assessment and therapy with older clients students in graduate courses looking at later lifespan issues and educators looking for material to enhance generalist psychotherapy courses with a lifespan perspective Treating Later-Life Depression Ann M. Steffen, Larry W. Thompson, Dolores Gallagher-Thompson, 2022 Treating Later Life Depression Clinician Guide outlines culturally responsive practices that target the contexts and drivers antecedents of depression in middle aged and older adults Clinicians can choose research supported modules from the accompanying Workbook that fit the needs of their clients i e chronic pain sleep problems anxiety experiences of loss Psychological Assessment and Treatment of Older Adults Nancy A. Pachana, Victor Molinari, Larry W. Thompson, Dolores Gallagher-Thompson, 2021-11-30 Learn about the key issues when assessing and treating older adults with mental health problems Expert guidance through the key topics Highlights the best assessment and treatment practices Addresses diversity ethical and health system issues Full of real life case examples Resources in the appendix to test your knowledge More about the book Mental health practitioners are encountering an ever growing number of older adults and so an up to date and comprehensive text addressing the special considerations that arise in the psychological assessment and treatment of this population is vital This accessible handbook does just that by introducing the key topics that psychologists and other health professionals face when working with older adults Each area is introduced and then the special considerations for older adults are explored including specific ethical and healthcare system issues The use of case examples brings the topics further to life An important feature of the book is the interweaving of diversity issues culture race sexuality etc within the text to lend an inclusive contemporary insight into these important practice components The Pikes Peak Geropsychology Knowledge and Skill Assessment Tool is included in an appendix so readers can test their knowledge which will be helpful for those aiming for board certification in geropsychology ABGERO This an ideal text for mental health professionals transitioning to work with older clients for those wanting to improve their knowledge for their regular practice and for trainees or young clinicians just starting out A Handbook of Geriatric
