

2 DESCRIPTION OF CONNECTION

(select thumbnail to display viewer)

The design assumption made in this Design Guide is that the base plate connection is a pinned connection (i.e. transmits no bending moment). Hence if the base plate uses the detailing given in this Design Guide, the base plate should be modelled as a pin in any computer analysis package, since the design actions obtained from the structural analysis are dependent upon the assumption made and AS 4100 Clause 4.2.5 requires consistency.

Typical pinned column bases shown at FIGURE 1 consist of:

- a rectangular base plate;
- a column welded to the base plate, usually with fillet welds;
- (usually) four anchor bolts which are either cast into the concrete support or are masonry anchors which may be drilled and fitted into the hardened concrete.

Pinned column base plate connections may be subject to combinations of the following design actions:

- axial compression and shear force;
- axial tension and shear force.

For the case of axial compression and shear force, the base plate should have sufficient strength and stiffness to transmit the design actions from the column into the foundation. The bolts are primarily locating devices although they may be designed to resist the shear force.

Columns subject to axial compression may be either:

- a. prepared for full contact on the base plate, in which case, the axial compression force is transmitted by direct bearing from the column into the base plate. Cold saw cutting of the end of the column is sufficient to meet the requirements of Clause 14.4.4.2 of AS 4100 [\[Ref 12.1\]](#)
