Digital Disruption Cinema Moves On Line:

Digital Disruption Dina Iordanova, Stuart Cunningham, 2012 Nobody knows anything said William Goldman of studio filmmaking This statement is proving increasingly apt as we begin to survey the radical changes that digital distribution together with the digitisation of production and exhibition is wreaking on global film circulation Will digital dissemination produce a massive disruption to the film industry as it did to mail delivery services bookselling and music distribution Is cinema about to move on line Digital Disruption Cinema Moves On line helps to make sense of what has happened in the short but turbulent history of on line distribution It provides a realistic assessment of the disruptions that moving from analogue dollars to digital cents has provoked in the film industry Looking closely at how the majors have dealt often unsuccessfully with these challenges it also pays equal attention to innovations and practices outside the mainstream Throughout it is alive to important entrepreneurial innovations showcasing the work of Mubi Jaman Withoutabox and IMDb Written by leading academic commentators who have followed the fortunes of world cinema closely and with passion together with experienced writers close to the fluctuating fortunes of the industry Digital Disruption Cinema Moves On line is an indispensable guide to the dramatic changes that film is currently experiencing It s hard to overstate the importance of this collection of essays Ever since digital technology began to transform the media landscape various self appointed pundits myself included have been predicting the final outcome with results that have ranged from a utopian belief that film is finally being democratised to various versions of the end of the cinema as we know it scenario Now at last we have what we needed some rigorous academic thinking on the subject combined with detailed analysis of what exactly is going on in the fast developing world of downloads streaming video and Swedish pirates The people who really need to read this book the Hollywood studios probably won t But anyone else remotely interested in the future of cinema should do so Nick Roddick Sight Sound s Mr Busy Digital Disruption is a must read for all researchers and practitioners interested in the changing shape and circulation of filmed content This book amounts to much more than the sum of its parts by addressing compelling and highly relevant areas of enquiry and employing fine research delivered in a transparent and accessible writing style Digital Disruption enables the reader to leap onto a fast moving train without being knocked off balance by the rush of the wind Highly recommended Angus Finney consultant and industry executive Film Business Academy London and author of The International Film Business A Market Guide beyond Hollywood

World Cinema On Demand Stefano Baschiera, Alexander Fisher, 2022-05-05 World Cinema on Demand brings together diverse contributions by leading film and media scholars to examine world cinema s dialogue with the transformations that took place during 2010 2014 engaging directly with ongoing debates surrounding national cinema transnational identity and cultural globalization as well as ideas about genre fandom and cinephilia The contributions look at individual national patterns of online distribution engaging with archives SVODS and torrent communities The essays also investigate the cross cultural presence of world cinema in non domestic online markets such as Europe's for example. As a result, the volume sheds light on geo-politically specific issues of film circulation, consumption and preservation within a range of culturally diverse filmmaking contexts including case studies from India, Nigeria, Mexico and China. In this way, the collection maps the impact of different online formats of distribution in the understanding of World Cinema, underlining the links between distribution and media provisions as well as engaging with new forms of intermediation.

Online Film Production in China Using Blockchain and Smart Contracts Patrice

Poujol, 2019-03-04 This book explores the use of Blockchain and smart contract technologies to develop new ways to finance independent films and digital media worldwide. Using case studies of Alibaba and in-depth on-set observation of a Sino-US coproduction as well as research collected from urban China, Hong Kong, Europe and the USA, Online Film Production in China Using Blockchain and Smart Contracts explores new digital platforms and what this means for the international production of creative works. This research assesses the change in media consciousness from young urban audiences, their emergence as a potential participative and creative community within dis-intermediated, decentralised and distributed crowdfunding and crowdsourcing models. This research proposes solutions on how these young emerging local creative talents can be identified and nurtured early on, particularly those who now produce creative and artistic audiovisual content, whether these works are related to film, Virtual Reality, VR, video game, graphic novels or music. Ultimately, a new media content finance and production platform implementing blockchain is proposed to bring transparency in the film sector and open doors to emerging artists in digital media. Appropriate for both professionals and academics in the film industry as well as computer science.

Cinematic Psychotherapy Anna Chiara Sabatino, Valeria Saladino, 2023-12-22 This book investigates the therapeutic potential and efficacy of audiovisual languages, deepening the integration of film studies into neuropsychiatry and strategic psychotherapy. Within a theoretical framework including documentary studies, self-representational and amateur theories and strategic psychotherapy, the book describes the key notions and methodologies for using audiovisual language in clinical therapy practice and autism spectrum disorder (ASD) interventions. The book is a review and update of the Italian Cinema terapeutico. Linguaggi audiovisivi e percorsi clinici showcases the healing potential of creative participatory processes and self-representations that occur thanks to the relocation and amateurization of the contemporary cinematic experience. The authors propose an experimental therapeutic protocol, Video Pharmacology, which aims to serve as a new integrated method for taking care of children and adolescents with ASD and their families. The protocol is illustrated in its methodologies and phases and supported through case studies. Scholars and practitioners of art therapy and narrative-based medical approaches, professionals working with clients with ASD and any other student or professional interested in ASD psychotherapy and film studies will find this a valuable resource for current practice and future research interventions.
