Commemoration of War Matthew A. Sears, 2023-12-21 The tough Spartan soldier is one of the most enduring images from antiquity Yet Spartans too fell in battle so how did ancient Sparta memorialise its wars and war dead From the poet Tyrtaeus inspiring soldiers with rousing verse in the seventh century BCE to inscriptions celebrating the 300 s last stand at Thermopylae and from Spartan imperialists posing as liberators during the Peloponnesian War to the modern reception of the Spartan as a brave warrior defending the West Sparta has had an outsized role in how warfare is framed and remembered This image has also been distorted by the Spartans themselves and their later interpreters While debates continue to rage about the appropriateness of monuments to supposed war heroes in our civic squares this authoritative and engaging book suggests that how the Spartans commemorated their military past and how this shaped their military future has perhaps never been more pertinent War Commemoration and Civic Culture in the North East of England,

1854-1914 Guy Hinton, 2021-09-17 This book examines a diverse set of civic war memorials in North East England commemorating three clusters of conflicts the Crimean War and Indian Rebellion in the 1850s the small wars of the 1880s and the Boer War from 1899 to 1902 Encompassing a protracted timeframe and embracing disparate social political and cultural contexts it analyses how and why war memorials and commemorative practices changed during this key period of social transition and imperial expansion In assessing the motivations of the memorial organisers and the narratives they sought to convey the author argues that developments in war commemoration were primarily influenced by and reflected broader socio economic and political transformations occurring in nineteenth century and early twentieth century Britain

Commemorating War Graham Dawson, T. G. Ashplant, Michael Roper, 2000 War memory and commemoration have had increasingly high profiles in public and academic debates in recent years. This volume examines some of the social changes that have led to this development among them the passing of the two world wars from survivor into cultural memory. Focusing on the politics of war memory and commemoration, the book illuminates the struggle to install particular memories at the center of a cultural world and offers an extensive argument about how the politics of commemoration practices should be understood. Commemorating War analyzes a range of forms of remembrance from public commemorations orchestrated by nation states to personal testimonies of war survivors and from cultural memories of war represented in films, plays, and novels to investigations of wartime atrocities in courts of human rights. It presents a wide range of international case studies encompassing lesser known national histories and wars beyond the well-trodden terrain of Vietnam and the two world wars in Europe. Emerging from this book is an important critique of both state-centered approaches to war memory and those that regard commemoration primarily as a human response to loss and grief. Offering a wealth of empirical research material, this book will be important for cultural and oral historians, sociologists, researchers in international relations and human rights, and anybody with an interest in the cultural construction of memory in contemporary society. Provided by publisher. War Memory and Commemoration Brad West, 2016-07-15 In a period characterised by an unprecedented cultural engagement with the past, individuals, groups, and nations are debating and experimenting with commemoration in order to find culturally relevant ways of remembering warfare, genocide, and terrorism. This book examines such remembrances and the political consequences of these rites. In particular, the volume focuses on the ways in which recent social and technological forces, including digital archiving, transnational flows of historical knowledge, shifts in academic practice, changes in commemorative forms, and consumerist engagements with history, affect the shaping of new collective memories and our understanding of the social world. Presenting studies of commemorative practices from Africa, Asia, Australia, Europe, and the Middle East, War Memory and Commemoration illustrates the power of new commemorative forms to shape the world and highlights the ways in which social actors use them in promoting a range of understandings of the past. The volume will appeal to scholars of sociology, history, cultural studies, and journalism with an interest in commemoration, heritage, and/or collective memory.

Commemorating Muslims in the First World War Centenary Meghan Tinsley, 2021-11-22 Commemorating Muslims in the First World War Centenary engages with the explosion of public commemorations in Britain and France in the wake of the First World War centenary alongside the hyper-visibility of British and French Muslims in political and popular discourse. Bringing these two phenomena together, it draws on national commemorations of the First World War centenary in Britain and France alongside eleven local field sites that foregrounded Muslims to make sense of how national memory changes when it seeks to include a previously excluded group. Through an identification of three distinct narratives which correspond to three ways of situating Muslims in relation to the nation—mourning, mobilisation, and melancholia—it intervenes in debates surrounding memory nationhood and belonging to make sense of the centenary as an extended exercise in nation building at a moment when the borders of British and French national identity were openly and violently contested With particular attention to sites of melancholia the author shows how certain sites disrupt national memory and refrain from producing any cohesive narrative to repair that which has been fractured An exploration of the ways in which commemoration pushes nations to grapple with their past and present without prescribing any tidy solution this book will appeal to scholars of sociology and anthropology with interests in memory studies nationalism and postcolonial studies Commemorating Race and Empire in the First World War Centenary Ben Wellings, Shanti Sumartojo, 2018-09-27 The Great War for Civilisation was more than a European conflict It was a global war spanning Asia Africa and beyond Drawing on original archival research in several languages and employing multidisciplinary frames of analysis this innovative volume explores how race and empire were commemorated during the First World War Centenary The Politics of War Memory and Commemoration T.G. Ashplant, Graham Dawson, Michael Roper, 2013-01-11 International in scope presents a range of case studies from a diverse range of national contexts War memory and commemoration has had an increasingly high profile in public and academic debates in recent years The 1992 Olympic Commemorative Coin Act, H.R. 4962; the Korean War Veterans Memorial Thirty-eighth Anniversary Commemorative Coin Act, H.R. 5053 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Banking, Finance, and Urban Affairs.
