Abstract: The authors investigate the effects of a 12-week, 100% body weight (BW) resistance training program on the body composition and muscle strength of 10 sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group (CON) and an exercise group (EX). The EX group performed a 12-week, 100% BW resistance training program, while the CON group remained sedentary. The results showed that the EX group experienced significant increases in muscle mass and strength, while the CON group showed no significant changes. The authors conclude that a 12-week, 100% BW resistance training program is effective in improving body composition and muscle strength in sedentary, middle-aged men.
