Decentralisation, Local Governance and Development: An Aspect of Development Akampurira Abraham, 2013-09

Communities need a holistic approach to address the problems that affect the people at the grass root. The planning of the direct beneficiaries involves decentralization in order to allow the lower power centers to widely take part in the development of society. Concerns of the grass root people form the need for decentralization and local governance. People's involvement in the planning on the village level and all local government units makes the identification and solving of the problem easier. High participatory levels of all the people, especially the marginalized, encourages innovation to source for the appropriate solutions to the common problems that face society. It therefore calls a decentralized system that caters for the voters' preferences while providing for their services. The people's concerns call for local planning and the transfer of power to the public so that services are brought nearer to the people. This study will cover the aspects of local government and decentralization such as good governance, democratization, civil society, deconcentration, devolution and delegation and its relation to the development of societies. Decentralisation, Local Governance and Development Akampurira

Development United Nations Development Programme, 2004 The Theories of Decentralization and Local Government

Kwame Badu Antwi-Boasiako, Peter Csanyi, 2014 Theories of Decentralization and Local Government brings fresh perspective to the debate and comparative analysis of vertical division of power i.e. processes of decentralization and relations between central and local self governments The multiple author book is not just one of many similar around the globe as it encompasses contributions from many different academics from not only different countries but also different continents and even more importantly very different political traditions and cultures This way the book deepens and strengthens knowledge of the role of local governments in the contemporary world and brings new value to discussions on the relationship between decentralization and development Contributors include Ahmed Mustafa Elhussein Mansour Hong Pang Abdulfattah Yaghi Jose Neftali Recinos Gariela Miranda Recinos Lee Payne Heather Wyatt Nichol Ed Gibson James Newman Kwame Asamoah Minerva Cruz and Alexandra Tsvetkova Local Governance, Economic Development and Institutions G. Gomez,P.

Knorrinda,2016-04-08 Development is what most people see as progress in the places where they live and in the ways they live It has to do with public services the ways to complain when these are not delivered properly and the spaces to change power structures It is related to the economy the opportunities to access a secure job a sustainable livelihood and increased welfare while caring for the planet and others It is also linked to the institutions that allow people to live life well using resources ethically and doing business responsibly in relation to other communities and future generations This edited collection examines the interconnections between local governance economic development and institutions by focusing on what initiatives work and under what conditions they do so Based on a variety of theories and empirical data it presents evidence from current experiences around the world revealed by researchers across different continents and several generations Decentralization, Democracy, and Development in Africa Jan Erk,2018-12-07 Decentralization reforms introduced to Africa in the 1990s have not always delivered the intended long term outcomes This is a collection on the consequences of these reforms two decades on In addition to general and comparative overviews the book contains case studies on Ghana Senegal Zimbabwe Namibia Ethiopia and Uganda The common theme across the chapters is that the reforms seem to have engendered political consequences beyond decentralization itself mostly through interaction with the broader historical political social and economic context The book thus speaks both to the scholarly literature on decentralization democratization and development and to the community of development practitioners Most of the literature on decentralization and development emphasizes questions of institutional design and policy but here the harder to pin down political patterns marking the workings of decentralization are the main focus of analysis The debates on development through the case studies are connected to the scholarly literatures on comparative federalism comparative decentralization and local democracy The main conclusion that emerges from the studies in the book is that no magic formula that can turn countries into peaceful stable and prosperous democracies overnight exists Furthermore there are risks involved in importing formal institutions without regard to the local historical political social and economic context The chapters of this book were originally published as a special issue in Regional and Federal Studies Decentralization and Local Governance in Developing Countries Pranab K. Bardhan,Dilip Mookherjee,2006 Comparative and interdisciplinary perspectives on the current trend in the developing world of devolving political and economic power to local governments

Decentralisation and Local Governance L. C. Jain, 2005 This is a collection of 20 essays dedicated to Dr George Mathew by eminent scholars and academics on decentralised governance and its importance in a globalising world Based on empirical studies and paradigms of developed and developing countries it has an overarching focus on India's panchayati raj institutions The Seventy third constitution Amendment Act of 1992 by making PRIs mandatory was a historic move towards deepening democracy and advancing development through decentralisation Decentralisation programmes in other countries e g S Africa and Pakistan are also reviewed The book offers a comprehensive account of development and governance at the grassroots through a broad canvas of multiperspective and interdisciplinary presentations Democracy, Decentralisation and Development Henry Maddick, 1953 Public Sector Reform in Developing and Transitional Countries Christopher J. Rees, Farhad Hossain, 2012 Drawing on the expertise of a wide range of international scholars this book is intended to clarify theory and practice surrounding decentralization and local governance initiatives in the Public Sectors of developing and transitional countries This book was published as a special double issue of the International Journal of Public Administration
