Daughter Moving Away Poem:

The Daughter's Way Tanis MacDonald, 2012-09-01 The Daughter's Way investigates negotiations of female subjectivity in twentieth century Canadian women's elegies with a special emphasis on the father's death as a literary and political watershed. The book examines the work of Dorothy Livesay, P. K. Page, Jay Macpherson, Margaret Atwood, Kristjana Gunnars, Lola Lemire Tostevin, Anne Carson, and Erin Mour as elegiac daughteronomies, literary artifacts of mourning that grow from the poet's investigation into the function and limitations of elegiac convention. Some poets treat the father as a metaphor for socio-political power, while others explore more personal iterations of loss, but all the poets in The Daughter's Way seek to redefine daughterly duty in a contemporary context by challenging elegiac tradition through questions of genre and gender. Beginning with psychoanalytical theories of filiation, inheritance, and mourning as they are complicated by feminist challenges to theories of kinship and citizenship, The Daughter's Way debates the efficacy of the literary work of mourning in twentieth century Canadian poetry. By investigating the way a daughter's filial piety performs and sometimes reconfigures such work and situating melancholia as a creative force in women's elegies, the book considers how elegies inquire into the rhetoric of mourning as it is complicated by father-daughter kinship. Middle Grounds: Essays on Midlife Mothering Kathy

Mantas, 2018-06-01 Although motherhood writings are rich and emerging, the available literature on midlife motherhood and mothering is incomplete and often presented from a narrow perspective. Middle Grounds: Essays on Midlife Mothering fills this gap, widening the lens on a sociological phenomenon that is expanding in the twenty-first century. It brings together scholarly and creative essays from diverse disciplines and cultural perspectives to reflect a more contemporary viewpoint that motherhood and mothering is not limited by the stages of life or chronological age. It echoes distinct voices speaking about experiences that represent a global reality for midlife mothering practices. In essence, this collection demonstrates that everything can transpire in the middle period of a woman's life. Thus, in midlife, we encounter a broad range of mothering experiences and practices and ways of representing and expressing them. New Essays in Ecofeminist Literary Criticism

Glynis Carr, 2000 The present volume gathers new essays in ecofeminist literary criticism and theory that extend this critical trajectory for ecocriticism in the context of social ecofeminist theory and practice. BOOK JACKET Roots and Wings

Roger A. Desmarais, 1996 Written by a father whose daughters have grown up and moved away from home, this heartfelt collection will touch the souls of parents who watched their children reach out and embrace the world as well as children who are about to leave home or who are already out on their own. The Daddy Secret Judy Duarte, 2014-03-01 A single mom returns to her hometown and runs into her son's father in this romance series debut from a USA Today bestselling author. development and epigenetics to identify how sentient flesh creates knowledge of power and navigates methods of subversion for social justice this book grapples with the question of how Puerto Rican women living in the nation of their colonizer manifest an identity that exists beyond the scope of colonization It makes the case for a change in perspective that illustrates the conceptual shift from survivors to thrivers to educators To do so it draws upon Cherr e Moraga and Gloria Anzald a s theory in the flesh Iris Lopez s theories of trauma knowledge and Mar a Lugones s concept of world travelers to retain the corporeal flesh and physical location in Latinas attempts to write subversion under U S colonization across racial cultural and ethnic boundaries as well as the gendered sexuality barriers identified by Emma P rez This project builds on their work to frame Latina literature within a new discussion of how corporeal memory and sentient experiences of identity must center sentient flesh as the source of decolonial consciousness rather than relapsing into discourses of the body
