Introduction to Computer-assisted Reporting Matthew Reavy, 2001 While demystifying the use of the computer as a tool in reporting methods Introduction to Computer Assisted Reporting maintains that a computer is only supplemental to the traditional values of good journalism

MediaWriting W. Richard Whitaker, Ronald D. Smith, Janet E. Ramsey, 2013-03-01 MediaWriting is an introductory hands on textbook for students preparing to write in the current multimedia environment Rather than just talk about the differences among the styles of print broadcast and public relations MediaWriting synthesizes and integrates them while weaving in basic principles of Internet writing and social media reporting Complete with real world examples practical writing exercises and tips and information for entering into the profession MediaWriting continues to give students the tools they need to become a successful media writer The new edition has been extensively rewritten to reflect the dynamic nature of the profession paying significant attention to how the Internet and social media have become essential communication tools for print and broadcast journalists and public relations professionals Further updates and features include Increased attention to computer assisted reporting the preparation of online copy and social media applications Two new chapters on lead writing and new new media A separate chapter focused solely on ethics Explanatory how to boxes that help students understand and retain main themes Illustrative It Happened to Me vignettes from the authors professional experiences Discussion questions and exercises at the end of every chapter Suggested readings that highlight biographies books and websites that expand the scope and definition of professionalism In addition to new multimedia elements the fourth edition's companion website features enhanced resources for both students and instructors including chapter overviews writing tips a test bank sample critiques and a sample syllabus

Computer-assisted Reporting Bruce Garrison, 2020-07-20 Reporters in the newsroom are becoming more involved in computer assisted reporting and online news research than ever before This edition introduces readers to computer assisted reporting and to describe how leading journalists are using personal computers for news gathering in modern print broadcast and online newsrooms It provides a thorough discussion of technology and its applications to news reporting Computer Assisted Reporting focuses on the computerization of newsgathering highlighting the fact that the computer assists journalists by making writing easier and also makes gathering and organizing information more efficient As it begins the book demonstrates methods for journalists to get more from their computers such as data retrieval data analysis information storage and dissemination of that information in both processed and unprocessed forms It concludes with a refined proposal originally proposed in the first edition for five stages for development of computer literacy in the newsroom

The Reporter's Handbook Steve Weinberg,1996 Reporters editors and journalists will find this third edition of The Reporter s Handbook an even more impressive resource than prior editions This essential tool for serious journalists identifies hundreds of documents and human sources in both private and government sectors It provides step by step methods for tracking paper trails people trails and computer trails The book also includes coverage of library research computer assisted reporting case studies anecdotes and IRE contest winning pieces This new edition features chapters on the environment transportation housing financial institutions international investigation utilities and non profit organizations Under the sponsorship of Investigative Reporters and Editors Inc Steven Weinberg has revised and polished this journalism classic into a must have reference guide for the classroom and the newsroom

Investigative Reporter's Handbook Brant Houston,Investigative Reporters & Eds.,2008-12-03 Published with Investigative Reporters and Editors Inc IRE The Investigative Reporters Handbook is the best selling classroom and newsroom classic Useful as a textbook in advanced journalism courses and as a reference for professional journalists this book shows students how to use fundamental news reporting and writing skills like gathering sources tracking information and interviewing to pursue investigative stories in a variety of beats from the government and education to healthcare the environment and real estate In addition to discussing the latest techniques and challenges in the profession the fifth edition is now thoroughly streamlined making it easier to locate the resources that investigative reporters need to get the story

Digital Journalism Kevin Kawamoto,2003 In this innovative book experts on digital journalism share their perspectives on what digital journalism is where it came from and where it may be going Addressing many important issues in new media and journalism authors take on history convergence ethics online media and politics and cutting edge technology from multimedia web sites to global satellite capabilities Digital Journalism is a valuable resource for all journalism students and an intriguing read for anyone interested in the changing technology of news

Successful Strategies for Computer-assisted Reporting Bruce Garrison,2013-10-18 Computers have changed the landscape of both gathering and disseminating information throughout the world As journalists quickly move toward the 21st century and perhaps a new era of electronic journalism resources are needed to understand the newest and most successful computer based news reporting strategies Written to serve that purpose this book is designed to show both professional journalists and students which of the newest personal computing tools are being used by the nation s leading news organizations and top individual journalists It further describes how these resources are being used on a daily basis and for special projects In recent years computers have taken on new and dominating roles in the process of news analysis newsgathering and news processing Today s forward thinking journalists often seek guidance over what they can do to strengthen their ability to be society s information processors and managers This volume focuses upon how successful journalists are using computers through a major national computer assisted reporting CAR study of daily newspapers The study included two national surveys and a series of personal interviews with many of the nation s leading CAR specialists Several current examples of stories used for successful database and online oriented news assignments are provided as part of a series of case studies incorporated throughout the book The additional depth of description and the presentation of portions of stories themselves should help readers to understand the complete process involving CAR oriented journalism Substantial analytical detail is used to discuss the extent of computer use in newsrooms computer training CAR projects CAR in daily reporting hardware and software most commonly used levels and types of online services used in news research and portable hardware and software The book concludes with the author s assessment of the effects and impact of personal computing in the newsroom and the future of personal computer applications in newsgathering Explaining and defining advanced applications or terminology for readers the approach to the book assumes a minimal familiarity with computers but no advanced knowledge of computer operation British Librarianship and Information Work 2001-2005 J.H.

Bowman,2016-04-15 This important reference volume covers developments in aspects of British library and information work during the five year period 2001 2005 Over forty contributors all of whom are experts in their subject provide an overview of their field along with extensive further references which act as a starting point for further research The book provides a comprehensive record of library and information management during the past five years and will be essential reading for all scholars library professionals and students The Future of Newspapers Bob Franklin,2013-09-13 The future of newspapers is hotly contested Pessimistic pundits predict their imminent demise while others envisage a new era of participatory journalism online with yet others advocating increased investment in quality journalism rather than free gifts and DVDs as the necessary cure for the current parlous state of newspapers Globally newspapers confront highly variable prospects reflecting their location in different market sectors countries and journalism cultures But despite this diversity they face similar challenges in responding to the increased competition from expansive radio and 24 hour television news channels the emergence of free Metro papers the delivery of news services on billboards pod casts and mobile telephony the development of online editions as well as the burgeoning of blogs citizen journalists and User Generated Content Newspapers revenue streams are also under attack as advertising increasingly migrates online This authoritative collection of research based essays by distinguished scholars and journalists from around the globe brings together a judicious mix of academic expertise and professional journalistic experience to analyse and report on the future of newspapers This book was published as special issues of Journalism Practice and Journalism Studies
