an angle of about forty five degrees This characteristic gives this bird a parrot like appearance The similarity is heightened by the fact that these hook like bills are used by the birds to assist in climbing from branch to branch The Crossbills are even parrot like in captivity Dr Ridgway in the Ornithology of Illinois writes as follows regarding the habits of a pair They were very tame and were exceedingly interesting little pets Their movements in the cage were like those of caged parrots in every respect except that they were far more easy and rapid They clung to the sides and upper wires of the cage with their feet hung down from them and seemed to enjoy the practice of walking with their head downward They were in full song and both the male and female were quite good singers Their songs were irregular and varied but sweet and musical They ate almost every kind of food but were especially eager for slices of raw apple Although while they lived they were continually bickering over their food yet when the female was accidentally choked by a bit of egg shell her mate was inconsolable ceased to sing refused his food and died of grief in a very few days To be continue in this ebook
