Chancellorsville, May 2 and 3, 1863 (Classic Reprint) William R. Hillyer, 2015-07-11 Excerpt from Chancellorsville May 2 and 3 1863 The motive for this paper on the battle of Chancellorsville is the vindication of the Third Corps from the unjust criticisms and unfair quotations compiled from the official reports by James Beale late of the 12th Mass Vols and published under the title Chancellorsville A paper read before the United Service Club of Philadelphia on Wednesday February 8 1888 Second edition issued in 1892 Also for the correction of an error in the official reports reflecting upon the men and officers of the Seventh New Jersey which appears in the report of the Division Commander General Joseph B Carr Without making any quotations from the paper of Mr Beale I will refer to its unjust character in general terms He has apparently carefully canvassed the official reports for the sole purpose of gathering together every stricture upon the actions and conduct of individuals and organizations he could find therein and has collated these censures in such a manner as to impress the casual reader with the idea that the conduct of the Third Corps from its commander down to the men in the ranks was censurable and in many cases cowardly and reprehensible The injustice of making isolated extracts from reports showing misconduct of individual officers and organizations and presenting them as a reflection upon a whole corps will be apparent to any reader of Mr Beale s article who in connection therewith reads the pages of this paper About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

be claimed that the time has come for the critical study of the strategy and tactics of the character and qualifications of the principal generals and of the plans and policies of the opposing sides in that titanic struggle Many histories and biographies have been written and published and much technical criticism has been given to the world but The Campaign of Chancellorsville by John Bigelow Jr a retired major and graduate of West Point who served a term as professor of military science and tactics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is by far the most minute and careful military work which has yet been given to the country It contains maps and plans which are numerous and fairly accurate but owing to their number and to the varying scale are not always as easy to follow as they should be About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
