P. Battershall, 2013 Legal Chemistry A Guide to the Detection of Poisons Examination of Tea Stains Etc The term Legal Chemistry is applied to that branch of the science which has for its office the solution of problems proposed in the interest of Justice These most frequently relate to cases of poisoning When the subject of the symptoms or anatomical lesions produced by the reception of a poison is under consideration the services of a medical expert are resorted to but when the presence or absence of a poison in the organs of a body in the egesta of an invalid or elsewhere is to be demonstrated recourse is had to the legal chemist Investigations of this character require great practice in manipulation and however well the methods of analysis may be described in the works on the subject there would be great danger of committing errors were the examination executed by an inexperienced person The detection of poisons although perhaps the most important is not the only subject that may come within the province of the legal chemist indeed it would be somewhat difficult to define a priori the multitude of questions that might arise In addition to cases of supposed poisoning the following researches are most often required 1 The examination of fire arms 2 The analysis of ashes in cases where the destruction of a human body is suspected 3 The detection of alteration of writings and of falsification of coins and precious alloys 4 The analysis of alimentary substances 5 The examination of stains produced by blood and by the spermatic fluid
