Dialogic Education For The Internet Age:

Dialogic: Education for the Internet Age Rupert Wegerif, 2013-01-04 Dialogic Education for the Internet Age argues that despite rapid advances in communications technology most teaching still relies on traditional approaches to education built upon the logic of print and dependent on the notion that there is a single true representation of reality In practice the use of the Internet disrupts this traditional logic of education by offering an experience of knowledge as participatory and multiple This new logic of education is dialogic and characterises education as learning to learn think and thrive in the context of working with multiple perspectives and ultimate uncertainty The book builds upon the simple contrast between observing dialogue from an outside point of view and participating in a dialogue from the inside before pinpointing an essential feature of dialogic the gap or difference between voices in dialogue which is understood as an irreducible source of meaning Each chapter of the book applies this dialogic thinking to a specific challenge facing education re thinking the challenge and revealing a new theory of education Areas covered in the book include dialogical learning and cognition dialogical learning and emotional intelligence educational technology dialogic spaces and consciousness global dialogue and global citizenship dialogic theories of science and maths education The challenge identified in Wegerif s text is the growing need to develop a new understanding of education that holds the potential to transform educational policy and pedagogy in order to meet the realities of the digital age Dialogic Education for the Internet Age draws upon the latest research in dialogic theory creativity and technology and is essential reading for advanced students and researchers in educational psychology technology and policy

Rule, 2015-12-01 In an increasingly monologic world of war exploitation and fear of the other dialogue within and between humans and with the world around us is critical to a humane future This book explores dialogue and learning in theory practice and praxis across a spectrum of lifelong education contexts It develops a philosophical basis by examining the lives works and dialogic traditions of four key thinkers Socrates Martin Buber Mikhail Bakhtin and Paulo Freire It then examines dialogue and learning in contexts ranging from early childhood development to adult community and higher education In doing so it develops and illustrates the innovative concepts of dialogic space boundary learning and diacognition It has a specific focus on learners and learning in contexts of oppression and marginality and with a view to personal and social emancipation. It is located in an African context specifically South Africa although its resonance is both local and global. The book marks an innovative contribution to our understanding of dialogue and learning framed by the great dialogic traditions of the past and is a dialogical provocation to the ongoing generation of praxis. This book is valuable for grounding lifelong learning experiences within an African context. It underlines the complexities involved in carrying out authentic dialogue at different stages of education in Africa throughout the lifespan exploring cases of border crossing and boundary maintenance.

Peter Mayo University of Malta and Series Editor of the International Issues in Adult Education Series Multilingual Digital Storytelling Jim Anderson, Vicky Macleroy, 2016-03-02 Classrooms are increasingly multicultural in their social composition and students are increasingly connected through digital media to local and global networks. However pedagogy has failed to take full advantage of the opportunities these resources represent. Multilingual Digital Storytelling draws attention to the interfaces between learner engagement, creativity and critical digital literacy as well as addressing the multilingual within the multiliteracies framework. Addressing a significant gap in the field of multiliteracies by focusing on multilingualism, this book explores new digital spaces for language learning and methods of extending understandings of youth literacy in an increasingly interconnected world. Drawing on innovative and multi-site research projects based in mainstream and community schools in London and overseas, this book discusses how young people become engaged creatively and critically with literacy by demonstrating how digital storytelling can be used as a tool for language development. The book begins by considering linguistic, cultural, cognitive and social dimensions of language learning from a theoretical perspective whilst the second part focuses on practical case studies that reflect and illustrate these theoretical principles. Offering a powerful new perspective on multiliteracies pedagogy, Multilingual Digital Storytelling will appeal to researchers and academics in the fields of education, applied linguistics, sociology and youth and community studies. It will also be an invaluable resource for teachers, teacher educators, curriculum planners and policymakers. Seeking Understanding Jan Visser, Muriel Visser, 2019-12-02 The quest to understand defines our humanness. Since time immemorial it has given rise to art and literature, philosophical reflection, religious practice, myths, metaphor and allegory as well as in more recent history, disciplined scientific inquiry. Seeking understanding is a lifelong journey towards a goal, the parameters of which change as our pursuit progresses until at life's end the goal vanishes beyond the horizon. Such is humanness. Along the way we build in an enduring, self-transformative fashion our mind, the scientific mind. But what is that mind? A transdisciplinary team of 21 prominent authors from areas such as music, history, psychiatry, physics, cosmology, education, astronomy, mathematics, medicine, gaming, artificial intelligence, science, communication, early child development, science, education and economics shed light on what it takes humans to build and cultivate the scientific mind along the lifespan. A decade of intercultural dialogue preceded the book. It comprised six major international Building the Scientific Mind colloquia.

in culturally diverse settings that spanned the entire planet Several hundred people from different disciplines and interests among them distinguished scientists policy and decision makers practitioners and thinkers contributed to the dialogue Building the scientific mind transforms our way of being in the world It is driven by the desire to understand deeply cognitively and affectively who we are in a world of which we are an integral part It has great relevance for sustained human existence in the Anthropocene and profound implications for how we organize the conditions for informal and formal learning
