Dictionary of Munster Women Writers

1800-2000 Tina O'Toole, 2005 This dictionary will make an important contribution to the knowledge of writing in Munster in both Irish and English over the past 200 years. The dictionary has entries on 560 writers including 220 in Irish. Each entry contains a bibliographical note, a list of key references and a bibliography where applicable. Advances in literary and cultural studies, distinct from primarily historical research on the region of Munster over the last two centuries, enables a new view as a whole of the work of women writers juxtaposes the work of Irish English language and bilingual writers and thereby helps to develop an understanding of the province of Munster as a diverse cultural milieu and focus on the role of regionality in the process of cultural creation. The Munster Women Writers Project, based in the English Department at University College Cork, was a recovery project aiming to make available the basic materials for biographical and literary research and analysis on the extensive number of women writers with Munster backgrounds or strong Munster connections in the period 1800-2000. The objective was to make more information on these writers available for future literary historians, feminist critics and social historians to develop knowledge and understanding of this material. By making available the basic materials for scholarly research in this field, the project aims to help generate critical analysis of the role of regional class and gender factors in the formation of writers and the intersection of these factors in the nature of the work produced. It covers literature in all genres including poetry, drama and fiction, as well as life writing and unpublished writing, and addresses work in both English and Irish. The chapters are authored by leading experts in their field, giving readers an introduction to cutting-edge research on each period and topic. Survey chapters give an essential historical overview and are complemented by a focus on selected topics such as the short story and key figures whose relationship to the narrative of Irish literary history is analysed and reconsidered. Demonstrating the pioneering achievements of a huge number of many hitherto neglected writers, A History of Modern Irish Women's Literature makes a critical intervention in Irish literary history. Irish Novelists and the Victorian Age James H. Murphy, 2011-01-13 This is the first comprehensive study of the Irish writers of the Victorian age some of them still remembered most of them now forgotten Their work was often directed to a British as well as an Irish reading audience and was therefore disparaged in the era of W.B. Yeats and the Irish Literary Revival with its culturally nationalist agenda This study is based on a reading of around 370 novels by 150 authors including still familiar novelists such as William Carleton the peasant writer who wielded much influence and Charles Lever whose serious work was destroyed by the slur of rollicking as well as Joseph Sheridan LeFanu George Moore Emily Lawless Somerville and Ross Bram Stoker and three of the leading authors from the new woman movement Sarah Grand Iota and George Egerton James H. Murphy examines the work of these and many other writers in a variety of contexts the political economic and cultural developments of the time the vicissitudes of the reading audience the realities of a publishing industry that was for the most part London based the often difficult circumstances of the lives of the novelists and the ever changing genre of the novel itself to which Irish authors often made a contribution Politics history religion gender and particularly land over which nineteenth century Ireland was deeply divided featured as key themes for fiction Finally the book engages with the critical debate of recent times concerning the supposed failure of realism in the nineteenth century Irish novel looking for more specific causes than have hitherto been offered and discovering occasions on which realism turned out to be possible

Murphy, 2022-07-18 Austerity and Irish Women's Writing and Culture 1980-2020 focuses on the under represented relationship between austerity and Irish women's writing across the last four decades Taking a wide focus across cultural mediums this collection of essays from leading scholars in Irish studies considers how economic policies impacted on and are represented in Irish women's writing during critical junctures in recent Irish history Through an investigation of cultural production north and south of the border this collection analyses women's writing using a multimedial approach through four distinct lenses austerity feminism and conflict arts and austerity race and austerity and spaces of austerity This collection asks two questions what sort of cultural output does austerity produce And if the effects of austerity are gendered then what are the gender specific responses to financial insecurity both national and domestic By investigating how austerity is treated in women's writing and culture from 1980 to 2020 this collection provides a much needed analysis of the gendered experience of economic crisis and specifically of Ireland's consistent relationship with cycles of boom and bust Thirteen
