Cannibal Metaphysics Univocal:

Cannibal Metaphysics Eduardo Batalha Viveiros de Castro, 2014 The iconoclastic Brazilian anthropologist and theoretician Eduardo Viveiros de Castro well known in his discipline for helping initiate its ontological turn offers a vision of anthropology as the practice of the permanent decolonization of thought After showing that Amazonian and other Amerindian groups inhabit a radically different conceptual universe than ours in which nature and culture human and nonhuman subject and object are conceived in terms that reverse our own he presents the case for anthropology as the study of such other metaphysical schemes and as the corresponding critique of the concepts imposed on them by the human sciences Along the way he spells out the consequences of this anthropology for thinking in general via a major reassessment of the work of Claude Lévi Strauss arguments for the continued relevance of Deleuze and Guattari dialogues with the work of Philippe Descola Bruno Latour and Marilyn Strathern and inventive treatments of problems of ontology translation and transformation Bold unexpected and profound Cannibal Metaphysics is one of the chief works marking anthropology's current return to the theoretical center stage

Interdisciplinary Essays on Cannibalism Giulia Champion, 2021-05-19 Interdisciplinary Essays on Cannibalism Bites Here and There brings together a range of works exploring the evolution of cannibalism literally and metaphorically diachronically and across disciplines This edited collection aims to promote a conversation on the evolution and the different uses of the tropes and figures of cannibalism in order to understand and deconstruct the fascination with anthropophagy its continued afterlife and its relation to different disciplines and spaces of discourse In order to do so the contributing authors shed a new light not only on the concept but also propose to explore cannibalism through new optics and theories Spanning 15 chapters the collection explores cannibalism across disciplines and fields from Antiquity to contemporary speculative fiction considering history anthropology visual and film studies philosophy feminist theories psychoanalysis and museum practices This collection of thoughtful and thought provoking scholarly contributions suggests the importance of cannibalism in understanding human history and social relations Sensoria McKenzie Wark, 2020-08-18 As we face the compounded crises of late capitalism environmental catastrophe and technological transformation who are the thinkers and the ideas who will allow us to understand the world we live in McKenzie Wark surveys three areas at the cutting edge of current critical thinking design environment technology and introduces us to the thinking of nineteen major writers Each chapter is a concise account of an individual thinker providing useful context and connections to the work of the others The authors include Sianne Ngai Kodwo Eshun Lisa Nakamura Hito Steyerl Yves Citton Randy Martin Jackie Wang Anna Lowenhaupt Tsing Achille Mbembe Deborah Danowich and Eduardo Viveiros de Castro Eyal Weizman Cory Doctorow Benjamin Bratton Tiziana Terranova Keller Easterling Jussi Parikka Wark argues that we are too often told that expertise is obtained by specialisation Sensoria connects the themes and arguments across intellectual silos They explore the edges of disciplines to show how we might know the world through the study of culture the different notions of how we create such things and the impact that the machines that we devise have had upon us The book is a vital and timely introduction to the future both as a warning but also as a road map on how we might find our way out of the current crisis Becoming an Educational Ethnographer Juana M. Sancho-Gil, Fernando Hernández-Hernández, 2020-12-28 This book provides practical advice on the learning and teaching perspectives of ethnography including what undertaking research looks like and the experiences it will bring It considers what it means to be and become an educational ethnographer and builds on an inextricable entanglement between the researchers field of study and their research trajectories With a range of carefully chosen international contributions this book uses a variety of practical case studies to provide further information about the pros and cons of this research perspective Chapter authors share the knowledge and experience gained from the research and how it has affected their approach to social phenomena This book is an ideal introduction for anyone considering research approach or becoming an educational ethnographer and will be of interest to researchers already working in this field Differential Heterogenesis Alessandro Sarti, Giovanna Citti, David Piotrowski, 2022-07-15 This book describes about unlike usual differential dynamics common in mathematical physics heterogenesis is based on the assemblage of differential constraints that are different from point to point The construction of differential assemblages will be introduced in the present study from the mathematical point of view outlining the heterogeneity of the differential constraints and of the associated phase spaces that are continuously changing in space and time If homogeneous constraints well describe a form of swarm intelligence or crowd behaviour it reduces dynamics to automatisms by excluding any form of imaginative and creative aspect With this study we aim to problematize the procedure of homogeneization that is dominant in life and social science and to outline the dynamical heterogeneity of life and its affective semiotic social historical aspects Particularly the use of sub Riemannian geometry instead of Riemannian one allows to introduce disjointed and autonomous areas in the virtual plane Our purpose is to free up the dynamic becoming from any form of unitary and totalizing symmetry and to develop forms action thought by means of proliferation juxtaposition and disjunction devices After stating the concept of differential heterogenesis with the language of contemporary mathematics we will face the problem of the emergence of the semiotic function recalling the limitation of classical approaches Hjelmslev Saussure Husserl and proposing a possible genesis of it from the heterogenetic flow previously defined We consider the conditions under which this process can be polarized to constitute different planes of Content C and Expression E each one equipped with its own formed substances A possible but not unique process of polarization is constructed by means of spectral analysis that is introduced to individuate E C planes and their evolution The heterogenetic flow solution of differential assemblages gives rise to forms that are projected onto the planes offering a first referring system for the flow that constitutes a first degree of semiosis

Common Image Dr. Ingrid Hoelzl, Rémi Marie, 2021-11-05 Western humanism has established a reifying and predatory relation to the world While its collateral visual regime the perspectival image is still saturating our screens this relation has reached a dead end Rather than desperately turning towards transhumanism and geoengineering we need to readjust our position within community Earth Facing this predicament Ingrid Hoelzl and R mi Marie develop the notion of the common image understood as a multisensory perception across species and common ethics a comportment that transcends species bound ways of living Highlighting the notion of the common as opposed to the immune the authors ultimately advocate otherness as a common ground for a larger than human communism

The ^ASubtle Body Simon Cox, 2022-05-18 How does the soul relate to the body Through the ages many religions and intellectual movements have posed answers to this question Many have gravitated to the notion of the subtle body positing some kind of subtle entity that is neither soul nor body but some mixture of the two This book traces the history of this idea from the late Roman empire to the present day touching on how philosophers wizards scholars occultists psychologists and mystics have engaged with the idea over the past two thousand years

Transcultural Ecocriticism Stuart Cooke, Peter Denney, 2021-01-28 Bringing together decolonial Romantic and global literature perspectives Transcultural Ecocriticism explores innovative new directions for the field of environmental literary studies By examining these literatures across a range of geographical locations and historical periods from Romantic period travel writing to Chinese science fiction and Aboriginal Australian poetry the book makes a compelling case for the need for ecocriticism to competently translate between Indigenous and non Indigenous planetary and local and contemporary and pre modern perspectives Leading scholars from Australasia and North America explore links between Indigenous knowledges Romanticism globalisation avant garde poetics and critical theory in order to chart tensions as well as affinities between these discourses in a variety of genres of environmental representation including science fiction poetry colonial natural history and oral narrative

A New Direction for Public Understanding of Science Christopher Rickels, 2025-06-30 Engaging the public with science is not an easy task When presented with scientific findings public health recommendations and other scientific information people filter them through their personal values beliefs and biases Science communicators must contend with these issues in order to be effective in cultivating a public understanding of science Given the importance of scientific understanding for living well in a complex world increasing science understanding through science engagement is imperative The field of public engagement with science is dichotomized by a public information deficit approach and a contextualist approach This book proposes a new approach the participant centered model of science engagement incorporating the factual content of science and its epistemic authority but in a way that is sensitive to context It argues for a deliberative democratic approach to public engagement with science and articulates a model inspired by learner centered approaches to teaching in the formal education literature The field of public understanding of science is interdisciplinary with contributing disciplines from communication psychology cognitive science philosophy and the sciences themselves The book will make an excellent reader in graduate level public engagement with science or science technology and society courses
