Carbon dioxide removal: Perspectives from the social sciences and humanities Anders Hansson, Mathias Fridahl, Miranda Boettcher, Shinichiro

Asayama,2024-07-09 Carbon dioxide removal CDR approaches are becoming increasingly central to visions of decarbonizing national economies The past few years have seen an increasing number of countries committed to net zero targets preceded by a surge of modelled 1.5°C scenarios envisioning large scale future CDR deployment The prospect of CDR deployment raises new complex socio ecological challenges and presents new deep uncertainties These complexities challenges and uncertainties cannot be investigated using solely the techno economic modelling and environmental risk assessment methods that currently dominate the construction of policy relevant knowledge on CDR Social sciences and the humanities perspectives on CDR are often restricted to instrumental tasks such as investigating public acceptance overcoming social resistance or supporting the development of integrated assessment models There is a need for more diverse investigations of CDR which include not only environmental and techno economic dimensions but also explore key societal complexities challenges and uncertainties Against this backdrop we call for submissions on CDR stemming from perspectives within the social sciences and humanities We encourage novel empirical and theoretical contributions on CDR related policy design or analyses of recent policy developments at sub national national and international levels of governance e.g. in context of climate targets and strategies climate tipping points mitigation deterrence or societal transformations Quantitative

Studies in Green and Conservation Criminology Michael J. Lynch, Stephen F. Pires, 2019-07-17 During the early development and throughout the short history of green conservation criminology limited attention has been directed toward quantitative analyses of relevant environmental crime law and justice concerns While recognizing the importance of establishing a theory and terminology in the early stages of development this book redresses this imbalance The work features contributions that undertake empirical quantitative studies of green conservation crime and justice issues by both conservation and green criminologists The collection highlights the shared concerns of these groups within important forms of ecological crime and victimization and illustrates the ways in which these approaches can be undertaken quantitatively It includes quantitative conservation green criminological studies that represent the work of both well established scholars in these fields along with studies by scholars whose works are less well known and who are also contributing to shaping this area of research The book presents a valuable contribution to the areas of Green and Conservation Criminology It will appeal to academics and students working in these areas

Conservation Clive Hambler, Susan M. Canney, 2013-01-03 The importance of conservation is growing each year with increasing concerns over the destruction of biodiversity and the rising awareness of ecosystem services generating new debates on the human nature relationship This compact overview integrates the process theory and practice of conservation for a broad readership from non specialists to students and practitioners Taking a global perspective it uses examples from around the world to illustrate general themes and show how problems arise from the impact of societal trends on ecological communities A significant practical component will be particularly valuable for environmental professionals outlining the requirements for rigorous surveys biodiversity valuation the assessment of impact and its mitigation Thoroughly revised and updated this second edition reflects trends towards embracing multiple disciplines considering the links between ecology and the social sciences and bringing conservation to the heart of sustainability and environmental policy Social Insecurity among the Vulnerable Groups in Tanzania Dr David Henry Kanyumi,2024-10-28 Dr David Henry Kanyumi author of Social Insecurity among the Vulnerable Groups in Tanzania speaks from an authentic point of view to engage and inform readers of Tanzania s current social problems and how they can be fixed Here he provides a unique insight into the lives of everyone from street orphans to battered women as drawn from research and interviews Standing alone as his first book it takes readers into a country s seldom discussed areas

Nature and Culture Sarah Pilgrim,Jules N. Pretty,2010-09-23 There is a growing recognition that the diversity of life comprises both biological and cultural diversity But this division is not universal and in many cases has been deepened by the common disciplinary divide between the natural and social sciences and our apparent need to manage and control nature This book goes beyond divisive definitions and investigates the bridges linking biological and cultural diversity The international team of authors explore the common drivers of loss and argue that policy responses should target both forms of diversity in a novel integrative approach to conservation thus reducing the gap between science policy and practice While conserving nature alongside human cultures presents unique challenges this book forcefully shows that any hope for saving biological diversity is predicated on a concomitant effort to appreciate and protect cultural diversity Bats in the Anthropocene: Conservation of Bats in a Changing World Christian C. Voigt,Tigga Kingston,2015-12-07 This book focuses on central themes related to the conservation of bats It details their response to land use change and management practices intensified urbanization and roost disturbance and loss Increasing interactions between humans and bats as a result of hunting disease relationships occupation of human dwellings and conflict over fruit crops are explored in depth Finally contributors highlight the roles that taxonomy conservation networks and conservation psychology have to play in conserving this imperilled but vital taxon With over 1300 species bats are the second largest order of mammals yet as the Anthropocene dawns bat populations around the world are in decline Greater understanding of the anthropogenic drivers of this decline and exploration of possible mitigation measures are urgently needed if we are to retain global bat diversity in the coming decades This book brings together teams of international experts to provide a global review of current understanding and recommend directions for future research and mitigation
