Episodes in Early Modern and Modern Christian-Jewish Relations Paolo L. Bernardini, 2016-09-23 The history of the Christian Jewish relations is full of curious intense and occasionally tragic episodes In the dialectical development of the

Western monotheistic religions Judaism plays the role of the thesis of the origins and background for the rise of Christianity and Islam With the rise of Christianity Judaism was progressively marginalized since it was denied the same essence and validity of Christianity which grew immensely in terms of spiritual and secular power Christian scholars since the Middle Ages looked at Judaism as at the broken staff in the evolutionist line of religion to quote the insightful work of the late Frank E Manuel At the same time while re discovering Judaism Christian scholars redefined themselves and Christianity as well However while Christianity encompassed many sects and many nations the relatively weak diversity within Judaism the religion of a single nation seemed to hinder its evolution and development While the intellectual battle was fought in a scholarly way the emergence of the Christian State condemned the Jews to perpetual discrimination and occasional toleration until a lay State Nazi Germany threatened the survival of the Jewish people Neutral controversial works became powerful extermination tools when used in the political arena This volume casts light on some crucial episodes in the long dialectics within the same intellectual and religious framework touching upon themes such as the conception of time future in the age of Spinoza the early encounters of Judaism and Christianity in eighteenth century England the memory of the Shoah and the political revolution present in the system of the Jewish Commonwealth From early to late Modernity there is a history of friendship and diffidence mutual understanding and dramatic disagreements which even today largely conditions the Western intellectual world

The Development of Religious Life in the Modern Christian Church ... Henry Solly, 1849 The Theological Origins of Modernity Michael Allen Gillespie, 2008-09-15 Exposing the religious roots of our ostensibly godless age Michael Allen Gillespie reveals in this landmark study that modernity is much less secular than conventional wisdom suggests Taking as his starting point the collapse of the medieval world Gillespie argues that from the very beginning moderns sought not to eliminate religion but to support a new view of religion and its place in human life He goes on to explore the ideas of such figures as William of Ockham Petrarch Erasmus Luther Descartes and Hobbes showing that modernity is best understood as a series of attempts to formulate a new and coherent metaphysics or theology Bringing the history of political thought up to date and situating it against the backdrop of contemporary events Gillespie's analyses provide us a way to begin to have conversations with the Islamic world about what is perhaps the central question within each of the three monotheistic religions if God is omnipotent then what is the place of human freedom Joshua Mitchell Georgetown University Modern Christian heroes, a gallery of protesting and reforming men George Gilfillan, 1869

Christian Mission in the Modern World John Stott, 2008-12-04 John Stott shows that Christian mission must encompass both evangelism and social action He begins with careful definitions of five key terms mission evangelism dialogue salvation and conversion Then through a thorough biblical exploration of these concepts Stott provides a model for ministry to people's spiritual and physical needs alike
