A Christmas Garland Woven A Collection of Seventeen Parodies by Max Beerbohm

A Christmas Garland Woven by Max Beerbohm is a collection of seventeen parodies written by English caricaturist essayist and parodist Max Beerbohm. It was first published in the United Kingdom in October 1912 by Heinemann and in 1918 in the United States by Dutton Co of New York. Beerbohm had a gift for parody and A Christmas Garland is perhaps the best collection of parodies ever written in English. In his book Beerbohm parodied the style of popular writers of his day. These were Henry James, George Bernard Shaw, Thomas Hardy, Joseph Conrad, Rudyard Kipling, H. G. Wells, George Meredith, John Galsworthy, G. K. Chesterton, George Moore, Edmund Gosse, Maurice Hewlett, Hilaire Belloc, G. S. Street, Arnold Bennett, Frank Harris, and A. C. Benson. Beerbohm's parodies of their work are intermixed with a Christmas theme and the inventiveness of his own comic talents. When A Christmas Garland first appeared in 1912, reviewers agreed that Beerbohm had not only captured the styles or externals of his subjects but had unbared their brains and hearts. He seemed to have obtained temporary loans of their very minds from which he worked outwards to the perfect jest. Henry James, the first author parodied, read A Christmas Garland with wonder and delight and called the book the most intelligent that has been produced in England for many a long day.

A Christmas Garland Sir Max Beerbohm, 2015-10-06

It was with the sense of a for him very memorable something that he peered now into the immediate future and tried not without compunction to take that period up where he had prospectively left it. But just where the deuce had he left it? The consciousness of dubiety was for our friend not this morning quite yet clean cut enough to outline the figures on what she had called his horizon between which and himself the twilight was indeed of a quality somewhat intimidating.
