Sons, Daughters, and Sidewalk Psychotics Neil Gong, 2024-03-29 Sociologist Neil Gong explains why mental health treatment in Los Angeles rarely succeeds for the rich the poor and everyone in between In 2022 Los Angeles became the US county with the largest population of unhoused people drawing a stark contrast with the wealth on display in its opulent neighborhoods In Sons Daughters and Sidewalk Psychotics sociologist Neil Gong traces the divide between the haves and have nots in the psychiatric treatment systems that shape the life trajectories of people living with serious mental illness In the decades since the United States closed its mental hospitals in favor of non institutional treatment two drastically different forms of community psychiatric services have developed public safety net clinics focused on keeping patients housed and out of jail and elite private care trying to push clients toward respectable futures In Downtown Los Angeles many people in psychiatric crisis only receive help after experiencing homelessness or arrests Public providers engage in guerrilla social work to secure them housing and safety but these programs are rarely able to deliver true rehabilitation for psychological distress and addiction Patients are free to refuse treatment or use illegal drugs so long as they do so away from public view Across town in West LA or Malibu wealthy people diagnosed with serious mental illness attend luxurious treatment centers Programs may offer yoga and organic meals alongside personalized therapeutic treatments but patients can feel trapped as their families pay exorbitantly to surveil and fix them Meanwhile middle class families stymied by private insurers unable to afford elite providers and yet not poor enough to qualify for social services struggle to find care at all Gong s findings raise uncomfortable questions about urban policy family dynamics and what it means to respect individual freedom His comparative approach reminds us that every sidewalk psychotic is also a beloved relative and that the kinds of policies we support likely depend on whether we see those with mental illness as a public social problem or as somebody s kin At a time when many voters merely want streets cleared of problem people Gong s book helps us imagine a fundamentally different psychiatric system one that will meet the needs of patients families and society at large

The Sequential Intercept Model and Criminal Justice Patricia A. Griffin, Kirk Heilbrun, Edward P. Mulvey, David DeMatteo, Carol A. Schubert, 2015-01-27 The number of individuals with severe mental illness in the criminal justice system is shockingly high However there is a wealth of research that shows that the traditional incarceration model is not effective with this population and that many of these individuals can be helped in the community at less cost without increased risk to public safety by addressing their risk relevant needs and improving their opportunities for recovery As a result during the last decade there has been an increasing interest in community based alternatives to incarceration for individuals with severe mental illness The Sequential Intercept Model and Criminal Justice offers an overview of the recent changes in correctional policy and practice that reflect an increased focus on community based alternatives for offenders Developed by

Drs Mark Munetz and Patricia Griffin the Sequential Intercept Model SIM identifies five conceptual points at which standard criminal processing can be interrupted to offer community based alternatives 1 law enforcement emergency services 2 initial detention initial court hearings 3 jails courts 4 re entry and 5 community corrections support This volume describes the SIM in detail and reviews empirical evidence for each of its five points of interception Chapters focus on its implementation starting with an analysis of the national and state level initiatives then addressing specific challenges A final section suggests how the SIM might be applied successfully to other populations e g veterans juveniles and those with developmental disabilities This volume will appeal to policy makers who are considering community based alternatives practitioners who carry out these changes and program evaluators who seek to document the impact of such changes Cherry Blossoms & Barren Plains

Larry L Franklin, 2011-06-01 Description Some 218 000 men and women with severe psychiatric disorders are incarcerated in an American prison or county jail Most committed violent crimes sometimes murder while propelled by a crazed mind untreated with medications and therapeutic care Cherry Blossoms and the residual effects on family and friends ill equipped to handle the demands of someone who suffers from a severe mental illness About the Author Larry L Franklin is 66 years old and resides in Makanda Illinois Franklin holds Bachelor s and Master s degrees in Music and performed in the U S Navy Band located in Washington D C from 1976 to 1971 From 1972 through 1975 Larry taught music at Southern Illinois University In 1976 he completed requirements for a Certified Financial Planner designation and maintained a successful investment business until 2007 when he retired to devote his energies to writing In 2003 Larry received an MFA in Creative Non Fiction from Goucher College in Baltimore Maryland Each professional pursuit left Franklin with an unsatisfying emptiness that pushed him into marathon running where he pounded the country roads longing for an answer just around the bend Then in 1998 and without warning repressed memories broke through his subconscious mind like a runaway train and left him afraid to leave his home He was diagnosed with Post Traumatic Stress Disorder PTSD with dissociative features What followed were years of psychotherapy where he explored a physically and sexually abusive childhood Now his problems have been reduced to a persistent mild depression which is controlled by medication and talk therapy The therapeutic process unleashed his creative side a new found ability to write and an unquenchable curiosity about the human mind Larry now devotes his time writing about the mentally ill and victims of injustice who yearn for a voice One Glorious Ambition

Jane Kirkpatrick, 2013-04-02 One dedicated woman giving voice to the suffering of many Born to an unavailable mother and an abusive father Dorothea Dix longs simply to protect and care for her younger brothers Charles and Joseph But at just fourteen she is separated from them and sent to live with relatives to be raised properly Lonely and uncertain Dorothea discovers that she does not possess the ability to accept the social expectations imposed on her gender and she desires to accomplish something more than finding a suitable mate Yearning to fulfill her God given purpose Dorothea finds she has a gift for teaching and writing Her pupils become a kind of family hearts to nurture but long bouts of illness end her teaching and Dorothea is adrift again It s an unexpected visit to a prison housing the mentally ill that ignites an unending fire in Dorothea s heart and sets her on a journey that will take her across the nation into the halls of the Capitol befriending presidents and lawmakers always fighting to relieve the suffering of what Scripture deems the least of these In bringing nineteenth century historical reformer Dorothea Dix to life author Jane Kirkpatrick combines historical accuracy with the gripping narrative of a woman who recognized suffering when others turned away and the call she heeded to change the world
