

AUTOMOBILE SHIPPING

PREPARATION

Before your vehicle is transported, there are several steps that must be taken to ensure it is properly prepared for shipping. This includes cleaning the vehicle, removing any personal items, and taking steps to protect the interior and exterior from damage. It is also important to take steps to ensure the vehicle is properly secured for transport, including using proper tie-down techniques and ensuring the vehicle is properly loaded onto the transport carrier.

2. DOCUMENTATION

Before your vehicle is shipped, it is important to take steps to ensure it is properly documented. This includes taking photos of the vehicle from all angles, and obtaining a written inspection report from the shipping company.

It is also important to take steps to ensure the vehicle is properly insured during transport. This includes obtaining a copy of the shipping company's insurance policy, and ensuring it covers the full value of the vehicle.

5. BEST PRACTICES

There are several best practices that can be followed to ensure the safe and successful transport of your vehicle. These include following the shipping company's instructions, taking steps to protect the vehicle from damage, and ensuring the vehicle is properly secured for transport.

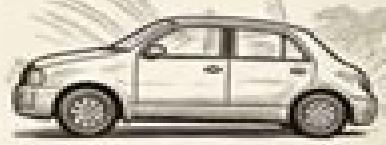

These charts illustrate the distribution of vehicle types shipped by different methods, providing a clear visual representation of the data.

4. LOGISTICS

There are several key factors that can affect the logistics of shipping your vehicle. These include the distance to be traveled, the weather, and the availability of transport carriers.

- Distance: The distance to be traveled is a key factor in determining the logistics of shipping your vehicle. Longer distances may require more time and resources.
- Weather: The weather can also affect the logistics of shipping your vehicle. Bad weather can lead to delays and increased costs.
- Availability: The availability of transport carriers is another key factor. If there are not enough carriers available, you may have to wait longer for your vehicle to be shipped.

5. INSURANCE

It is important to take steps to ensure your vehicle is properly insured during transport. This includes obtaining a copy of the shipping company's insurance policy, and ensuring it covers the full value of the vehicle.

- Obtain a copy of the shipping company's insurance policy.
- Ensure the policy covers the full value of the vehicle.
- Take steps to protect the vehicle from damage during transport.
