This combination of a culture of data-driven decision making and techniques to include domain knowledge allows organizations to exploit big data analytics in their evaluation and decision processes. Also in education and learning, big data analytics is being used to enhance the learning process, to evaluate efficiency, to improve feedback and to enrich the learning experience. As every step a student takes in the online world can be traced, analyzed and used, there are plenty of opportunities to improve the learning process of students. First, data analytics techniques can be used to enhance the student's learning process by providing real-time feedback or by enriching the learning experience. Second, data analytics can be used to support the instructor or teacher. Using data analytics, the instructor can better trace and take targeted actions to improve the learning process of the student. Third, there are possibilities in using data analytics to measure the performance of instructors. Finally, for policy makers, it is often unclear how schools use their available resources to produce outcomes. By combining structured and unstructured data from various sources, data analytics might provide a solution for governments that aim to monitor the performance of schools more closely. Data analytics in education should not be the domain of a single discipline. Economists should discuss the possibilities, issues and normative questions with a multidisciplinary team of pedagogists, philosophers, computer scientists and sociologists. By bringing together various disciplines, a more comprehensive answer can be formulated to the challenges ahead. This book starts this discussion by highlighting some economic perspectives on the use of data analytics in education. The book begins a rich multidisciplinary discussion that may make data analytics in education seem as natural as a teacher in front of a classroom. Enterprise-Grade Hybrid and Multi-Cloud Strategies Sathya AG, 2024-04-26 Leverage cloud technologies, proven strategies and effective frameworks to drive seamless digital transformation.
