

WHAT IS COLONIZATION?

Colonization is the process of establishing political and economic control over a foreign land, often through the use of military force.

It involves the settlement of people from the colonizing country into the colonized territory, the exploitation of its resources, and the imposition of the colonizers' language, culture, and political system. Colonization has been a major force throughout world history and has led to the establishment of empires, the displacement of indigenous peoples, and the exploitation of natural resources. The effects of colonization can still be felt today, shaping the political, economic, and social systems of many countries around the world.

Care Power Information Colonization Citizenship:

The Methodology of Political Economy J.I. Bakker, 2015-12-24 The importance of the global rural urban matrix is often overlooked due to urban normativity But sometimes agrarian populism and a pastoral rural imaginary result in the equally fallacy of a rural normativity as in Jeffersonian nostalgia for a lost way of life that never existed The nature of rurality in North America is important to study but as Alessandro Bonanno makes clear we cannot limit ourselves to the study of one or two nation states We must take a global perspective when it comes to the bio physical environment and the nature of the world capitalist system This collection takes such a perspective The editor frames the contributions with a Meta Paradigm called the New Political Economy Perspective NPEP and explains the roots of that approach in Classical Political Economy and the Canadian Political Economy Tradition of Harold Adams Innis There are chapters by an anthropologist a geographer two generalist sociologists and a group of rural sociologists There is also a chapter on psychiatry and mental health and another chapter which discusses pedagogy The use of an inter disciplinary framework to study global issues makes this a stimulating book which provides a window on issues that are often overlooked Projecting Citizenship Gabrielle Moser, 2019-01-11 In Projecting Citizenship Gabrielle Moser gives a comprehensive account of an unusual project produced by the British government s Colonial Office Visual Instruction Committee at the beginning of the twentieth century a series of lantern slide lectures that combined geography education and photography to teach schoolchildren around the world what it meant to look and to feel like an imperial citizen Through detailed archival research and close readings Moser elucidates the impact of this vast collection of photographs documenting the land and peoples of the British Empire circulated between 1902 and 1945 in classrooms from Canada to Hong Kong from the West Indies to Australia Moser argues that these photographs played a central role in the invention and representation of imperial citizenship She shows how citizenship became a photographable and teachable subject by tracing the intended readings of the images that the committee hoped to impart to viewers and analyzing how spectators may have used their encounters with these photographs for protest and resistance Interweaving political and economic history history of pedagogy and theories of citizenship with a consideration of the aesthetic and affective dimensions of viewing the lectures Projecting Citizenship offers important insights into the social inequalities and visual language of colonial rule Maryland Colonization Journal ,1841 The African Repository and Colonial Journal ,1842 Domestic Colonies Barbara Arneil, 2017 Modern colonization is generally defined as a process by which a state settles and dominates a foreign land and people This book argues that through the nineteenth and into the first half of the twentieth centuries thousands of domestic colonies were proposed and or created by governments and civil society organizations for fellow citizens as opposed to foreigners and within their own borders rather than overseas Such colonies sought to solve every social problem arising within industrializing and urbanizing states Domestic Colonies argues that colonization ought to be seen during this period as a domestic policy designed to solve social problems at home as well as foreign policy designed to expand imperial power Three kind of domestic colonies are analysed in this book labour colonies for the idle poor farm colonies for the mentally ill and disabled and utopian colonies for racial religious and political minorities All of them were justified by an ideology of colonialism that argued if people were segregated in colonies located on empty land and engaged in agrarian labour this would improve both the people and the land Key domestic colonialists analysed in this book include Alexis de Tocqueville Abraham Lincoln Peter Kropotkin Robert Owen and Booker T Washington The turn inward to colony thus requires us to rethink the meaning and scope of colonization and colonialism in modern political theory and practice Stateless Citizenship Shourideh C. Molavi, 2013-06-28 In Stateless Citizenship Shourideh C. Molavi examines the mechanisms of exclusion of Palestinian citizens in the Zionist incorporation regime and centres our analytical gaze on the paradox that it is through the provision of Israeli citizenship that Palestinians are deemed stateless

Citizenship Sovereignty. By J. S. Wright, assisted by J. H. Agnew John Stephen WRIGHT, 1863 Feminist AI Jude Browne, Stephen Cave, Eleanor Drage, Kerry McInerney, 2023-10-22 Feminist AI Critical Perspectives on Algorithms Data and Intelligent Machines is the first volume to bring together leading feminist thinkers from across the disciplines to explore the impact of artificial intelligence AI and related data driven technologies on human society Recent years have seen both an explosion in AI systems and a corresponding rise in important critical analyses of these technologies Central to these analyses has been feminist scholarship which calls upon the AI sector to be accountable for designing and deploying AI in ways that further rather than undermine the pursuit of social justice This book aims to be a touchstone text for AI researchers concerned with the social impact of their systems as well as theorists students and educators in the field of gender and technology It demonstrates the importance of an intersectional understanding of the risks and benefits of AI approaching feminism as a political project that aims to challenge various interlocking forms of injustice social inequality and structural relations of power Feminist AI showcases the vital contributions of feminist scholarship to thinking about AI data and intelligent machines as well as laying the groundwork for future feminist scholarship on AI It brings together scholars from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds from computer science software engineering and medical sciences to political theory anthropology and literature It provides an entry point for scholars of AI science and technology into the diversity of feminist approaches to AI and creates a rich dialogue between scholars and practitioners of AI to examine the powerful congruences and generative tensions between different feminist approaches to new and emerging technologies It features original and essential works specially selected to span multiple generations of practitioners and scholars These contributors are also attuned to conversations at industry level around the risks and possibilities that frame the drive to adopt AI This collection reflects the increasingly blurred divide between the academy industry and corporate research groups and brings interdisciplinary feminist insights together with postcolonial studies disability theory and critical race studies to confront ageism racism sexism ableism and class based oppressions in AI This is an open access title available under the terms of a

Aging A-Z Carroll L. Estes, with Nicholas B. DiCarlo, 2019-04-10

This provocative intellectually charged treatise serves as a concise introduction to emancipatory gerontology examining multiple dimensions of persistent and hotly debated topics around aging the life course the roles of power politics and partisanship culture economics and communications Critical perspectives are presented as definitions for reader understanding with links to concepts of identity knowledge construction social networks social movements and inequalities With today's intensifying concentration of wealth and corporatization precarity is the fate for growing numbers of the world's population Intersectionality as an analytic concept offers a new appreciation of how social advantage and disadvantage accumulate and how constructions of race ethnicity class ability and gender influence aging The book's entries offer a bibliographic compendium crediting the salience of early pioneering theorists and locating these within the cutting edge of research social behavioral policy and gene environment sciences that currently advances our understandings of human development trauma and resilience Accompanying these foundations are theories of resistance for advancing human rights and the dignity of marginalized populations

Neoliberal Governance and International Medical Travel in Malaysia Meghann Ormond, 2013-03-05

International medical travel (IMT) people crossing national borders in the pursuit of healthcare has become a growing phenomenon With many of the countries currently being promoted as IMT destinations located in the developing world IMT poses a significant challenge to popular assumptions about who provides and receives care since it inverts and diversifies presumed directionalities of care This book analyses the development of international medical travel in Malaysia by looking at the benefits and challenges of providing health care to non Malaysians It challenges embedded assumptions about the sources directions and political value of care The author situates the Malaysian case study material at the fruitful cross section of a range of literatures on transnational mobility hospitality therapeutic landscapes and medical diplomacy to examine their roles in the construction of national identity The book thus contributes to wider debates that have emerged around the changing character of global health governance and is of use to students and scholars of Southeast Asian Studies as well as Politics and Health and Social Care
