Learning in the Content Areas Sharon Kane, 2017-07-05 The 3rd Edition of Literacy Learning in the Content Areas helps readers build the knowledge, motivation, tools, and confidence they need as they integrate literacy into their middle and high school content area classrooms. Its unique approach to teaching content area literacy actively engages preservice and practicing teachers in reading and writing and the very activities that they will use to teach literacy to their own students in middle and high school classrooms. Rather than passively learning about strategies for incorporating content area literacy activities, readers get hands-on experience in such techniques as mapping, webbing, anticipation guides, booktalks, class websites, and journal writing and reflection. Readers also learn how to integrate children's and young adult literature, primary sources, biographies, essays, poetry, and online content communities and websites into their classrooms. Each chapter offers concrete teaching examples and practical suggestions to help make literacy relevant to students' content area learning. Author Sharon Kane demonstrates how relevant reading, writing, speaking, listening, and visual learning activities can improve learning in content area subjects and at the same time help readers meet national content knowledge standards and benchmarks.

Celebration of Success Phyllis Kohl Coston, 2013-08-07 You are stupid. My little sister in second grade reads better than you. You go to the Retard Class. These are the taunts heard by the people whose stories you will read. Some teachers and counselors added to the problem by remarks: You will never go to college. You need a vocation in which you can use your hands. You can't handle a college prep course. College for YOU? You are kidding yourself. No college will ever accept you.

Everybody Come Alive Marcie Alvis Walker, 2023-05-30 A dazzling memoir that explores what it means to become fully alive and holy when we embrace the silenced stories we've inherited from the creator of Black Coffee with White Friends. Marcie Alvis Walker writes with an honesty that is both dauntless and compassionate. Cole Arthur Riley, author of This Here Flesh, in her debut book Everybody Come Alive, Marcie Alvis Walker invites readers into a deeply intimate and illuminating memoir comprising lyrical essays and remembrances of being a curious child of the seventies and eighties raised under the critical and watchful eye of Jim Crow matriarchs who struggled to integrate their lives and remain whole. While swimming in rivers of racial trauma and racial reckoning, Alvis Walker explores her earliest memories of abandonment and erasure of her mother's mental illness and incarceration and of her ongoing struggles with perfectionism and body dysmorphia in hopes of leaving a healed and whole legacy for her own child. Nostalgic but unflinching, candid yet tender, Everybody Come Alive is an invitation to be vulnerable along with the author as she unravels all the beauty and terror of God, race, and gender's imprint on her life. This is a coming-of-age journey touching on the bittersweet pain and joy of what it takes
