

Usability of the Revised Color Me Healthy App in Children with Cancer

Sydney Gilliland, College of Nursing

Faculty Member (Salt Lake), PhD, APRN, CPNP, AANP, FAANP

Introduction

- The gold standard for symptom reporting in healthcare is self-reporting, which can be difficult for children with cancer.
- Children may be more comfortable reporting symptoms using an mHealth app.
- This user-centered design study evaluated the ease of use and perceived usefulness of the newly revised Color Me Healthy app.

Methods

- The study was guided by the Technology Acceptance Model.
- Participants were guided through the app while the interviewer used a usability log to record their ability to navigate key features in the app.
- Interviews concluded with qualitative questions, and parents completed the TAM Perceived Usefulness Scale.
- Usability evaluation results shared with programming team to guide refinements.

Results

Participants

- 14 children (9 boys) 4-12 years of age (median 6.5 years) receiving cancer treatment at Primary Children's Hospital and their parents (11 mothers).

Ease of Use

- After 3 cycles of usability evaluations, children and parents completed key tasks independently, supporting its ease of use.

Perceived Usefulness

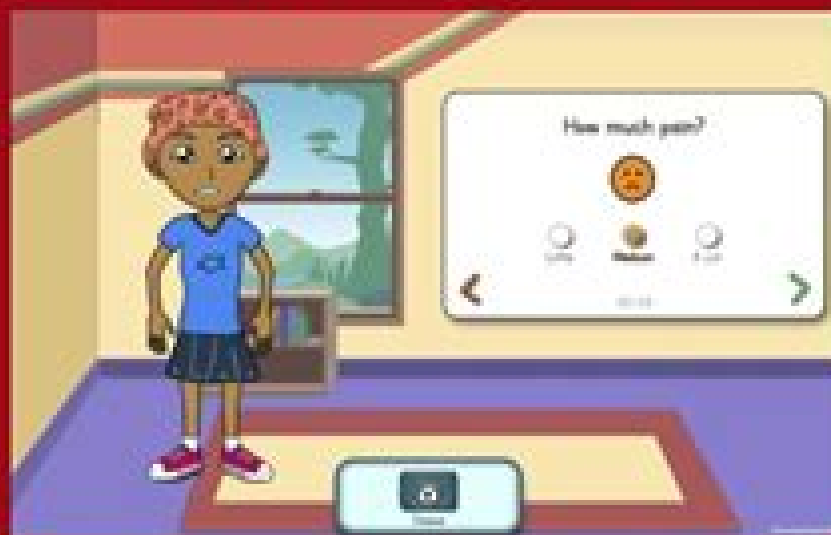

- Median TAM Perceived Usefulness Scale scores were 7, indicating that the app was useful to understand and respond to children's symptoms.

Results

The revised Color Me Healthy app is easy to use and perceived as useful. Both parents and children indicate their preference for using the app as a method of symptom reporting. The app has demonstrated its usability.

Self-reporting via mHealth devices relies on the ability of the child to navigate the device independently.

"Would you rather use paper or this app to tell your doctor how you are feeling?"

- "The app for sure. I think he'll do better on the app... I like how he can interact and... choose how he really feels. I feel like he can describe it better." -Mother of 6-year-old boy with acute lymphoblastic leukemia
- "This app! 'Cause it's fun!" -8-year-old boy with acute lymphoblastic leukemia
- "I think the app would be great. Kids are pretty intuitive when it comes to apps and it's probably easier for them to open up when they're not talking face to face with an adult." -Father of 9-year-old boy with acute lymphoblastic leukemia
- "Using something like this! Because it just feels easier than writing on paper." -8-year-old girl with acute lymphoblastic leukemia
- "The only thing I can say is you should've had this earlier. This should've come out a long time ago." -Father of 9-year-old boy with acute lymphoblastic leukemia

Conclusions

- The Color Me Healthy app is a promising method of symptom self-reporting in children with cancer. If possible, self-reporting tools should be encouraged as much as possible.
- If self-reporting is not possible, take extra care to prevent miscommunication of a child's symptoms. Ensure that the patient and family members are given adequate opportunity to report symptoms and promote environments that facilitate communication.
- Future directions include formal evaluation of the clinical utility of the revised app.
