Dark Light Electricity And Anxiety From The Telegraph To The X Ray:

Dark Light Linda Simon,2004 From the invention of the telegraph to the discovery of X rays Simon has created a revealing portrait of an anxious age when Americans welcomed electricity into their bodies even as they kept it from their homes

Domesticating Electricity Graeme Gooday,2016-09-12 This is an innovative and original socio cultural study of the history of electricity during the late Victorian and Edward periods Gooday shows how technology authority and gender interacted in pre World War I Britain The rapid take up of electrical light and domestic appliances on both sides of the Atlantic had a wide ranging effect on consumer habits and the division of labour within the home Electricity was viewed by non experts as potential threat to domestic order and welfare This broadly interdisciplinary study relates to a website developed by the author on the history of electricity

Cybersecurity Discourse in the United States Sean T.

Lawson,2019-12-05 This book examines the role of cyber doom rhetoric in the U S cybersecurity debate For more than two decades fear of cyber doom scenarios i e cyberattacks against critical infrastructure resulting in catastrophic physical social and economic impacts has been a persistent feature of the U S cybersecurity debate This is despite the fact that no cyberattack has come close to realizing such impacts This book argues that such scenarios are part of a broader rhetoric of cyber doom within the U S cybersecurity debate and takes a multidisciplinary approach that draws on research in history sociology communication psychology and political science It identifies a number of variations of cyber doom rhetoric then places them into a larger historical context assesses how realistic the fears expressed in such rhetoric are and finally draws out the policy implications of relying on these fears to structure our response to cybersecurity challenges The United States faces very real cybersecurity challenges that are nonetheless much less dramatic than what is implied in the rhetoric This book argues that relying on cyber doom rhetoric to frame our thinking about such threats is counterproductive and encourages us to develop ways of thinking and speaking about cybersecurity beyond cyber doom This book will be of much interest to students of cybersecurity foreign policy public administration national security and international relations in general

Rocket States: Atomic Weaponry and the Cultural Imagination Fabienne Collignon, 2014-07-31 Rocket States crosses the disciplines of Cold War Studies American Literature American Studies and Cultural Studies The particular attraction of this study lies in the combination of its range close textual and visual analysis of the correlations between land and weaponry set firmly within its political and cultural contexts with its unique analytical approach The book offers a synthesis between history theories of technology theories of space popular culture literary study and military science It illuminates a variety of literary texts from key writers and thinkers such as Pynchon Stephen King Norman Mailer and Tom Wolfe while also invoking figures like Nikola Tesla James Webb Batman and Ronald Reagan Organised topographically according to how missile technology manifests itself differently in particular locations Rocket States s geographical targets are Colorado Kansas Cape Canaveral and New York variously titled Excavation Preservation Evacuation and Transmission It advances through these states roughly chronologically beginning in the late 1940s and early 1950s and coming to an end in the first part of the 21st century Collignon s argument is concerned with identifying the recurring figures and fantasies of the Cold War the dome or parabola as sheltering techno form the fictions of total security adapting to constantly changing targeting strategies gadget love closed freezing worlds As such Rocket States analyses by what processes the Cold War is frequently literalised in its weapons installations and how these facilities in turn shape dreams of containment survival escape and techno supremacy

Wind Turbine Syndrome Simon Chapman and Fiona Crichton, 2017-11-30 In Wind Turbine Syndrome A Communicated Disease Simon Chapman and Fiona Crichton explore the claims and tactics of the anti windfarm movement examine the scientific evidence and consider how best to respond to anti windfarm arguments This is an eye opening account of the rise of the anti windfarm movement and a timely call for a more evidence based approach

Power Button Rachel Plotnick, 2024-04-30 Push a button and turn on the television tap a button and get a ride click a button and like something The touch of a finger can set an appliance a car or a system in motion even if the user doesn t understand the underlying mechanisms or algorithms How did buttons become so ubiquitous Why do people love them loathe them and fear them In Power Button Rachel Plotnick traces the origins of today s push button society by examining how buttons have been made distributed used rejected and refashioned throughout history Focusing on the period between 1880 and 1925 when technologies of the hand proliferated including typewriters telegraphs and fingerprinting Plotnick describes the ways that button pushing became a means for digital command which promised effortless discreet and fool proof control Emphasizing the doubly digital nature of button pushing as an act of the finger and a binary activity on off up down Plotnick suggests that the tenets of precomputational digital command anticipate contemporary ideas of computer users Plotnick discusses the uses of early push buttons to call servants and the growing tensions between those who work with their hands and those who command with their fingers automation as automagic enabling command at a distance instant gratification and the victory of light over darkness and early twentieth century imaginings of a future push button culture Push buttons Plotnick tells us have demonstrated remarkable staying power despite efforts to cast button pushers as lazy privileged and even dangerous The Critical Reception of Henry James Linda Simon, 2007 Literature and Fascination Sibylle Baumbach, 2015-07-30 Exploring literary fascination as a key concept of aesthetic attraction this book illuminates the ways in which literary texts are designed presented and received Detailed case studies include texts by William Shakespeare S T Coleridge Mary Shelley Bram Stoker Oscar Wilde Joseph Conrad Don DeLillo and Ian McEwan The Oxford Handbook of Media, Technology, and Organization Studies Timon Beyes, Robin Holt, Claus Pias, 2020 This Handbook explores the largely uncharted territory of media technology and organization studies and interrogates their foundational relations their forms and their consequences The chapters consider how specific mediating technological objects such as the Clock or the Smartphone help us to create organizational form
