Changing Paths International Development And The New Politics Of Inclusion:

Changing Paths Peter P. Houtzager, Michael Peter Moore, 2009-12-14 After two decades of marketizing an array of national and international actors have become concerned with growing global inequality the failure to reduce the numbers of very poor people in the world and a perceived global backlash against international economic institutions This new concern with poverty reduction and the political participation of excluded groups has set the stage for a new politics of inclusion within nations and in the international arena The essays in this volume explore what forms the new politics of inclusion can take in low and middle income countries The contributors favor a polity centered approach that focuses on the political capacities of social and state actors to negotiate large scale collective solutions and that highlights various possible strategies to lift large numbers of people out of poverty and political subordination The contributors suggest there is little basis for the radical polycentrism that colors so much contemporary development thought They focus on how the political capabilities of different societal and state actors develop over time and how their development is influenced by state action and a variety of institutional and other factors The final chapter draws insightful conclusions about the political limitations and opportunities presented by current international discourse on poverty Peter P Houtzager is a Fellow at the Institute of Development Studies University of Sussex He has been a visiting scholar at the Center for Latin American Studies University of California Berkeley visiting lecturer at Stanford University and lecturer at St Mary's College A political scientist with broad training in comparative politics and historical institutional analysis he has written extensively on the institutional roots of collective action Mick Moore is a Fellow at the Institute of Development Studies University of Sussex as well as Director of the Centre for the Future State He has been a visiting professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology His professional interests include political and institutional aspects of poverty reduction and of economic policy and performance the politics and administration of development and good government Spaces for Change? Andrea Cornwall, Vera Schatten Coelho, 2007 This book provides a clear and comprehensive introduction to the developments which have brought about a new global wave of inclusiveness and democracy From Brazil to Bangladesh a new form of participatory politics is springing up Featuring contributions detailing how such movements have worked in Latin America Europe and Africa the book analyzes the impact they have had on the democratic process By opening up the political sphere in this way the authors contend these grassroots movements truly have created spaces for change

The Politics of Development in Morocco Sylvia I. Bergh, 2017-01-30 Since the mid 1990s Morocco has sought to present itself as a model of genuine and gradual reform with decentralisation as a key tenet of this Here Sylvia Bergh investigates the dynamics of popular participation and local governance testing the extent to which the current structure builds local capacity or whether it is in fact a tool for soft state control She narrates the realities of local administration and civil society to shed critical light on questions of democratic transition in North Africa Her assessment of decentralisation and participatory development projects in rural

Morocco and the legal and policy frameworks in which they operate leads to the conclusion that they have generally not yet led to an expansion of a civil society able to build local capacity or enhance bottom up empowerment Grounded in an approach of the anthropology of policy this book makes an important contribution to literature on the democratisation development and governance in North Africa Asian Transformations Deepak Nayyar,2019 Including in depth contributions by eminent economists and social scientists Asian Transformations examines the phenomenal changes transforming economies in this continent and shifting the balance of economic power in the world while reflecting on the future prospects in Asia over the next twenty five years The Multilingual Citizen Lisa Lim,Christopher Stroud,Lionel Wee,2018-02-27 In this ground breaking collection of essays the editors and authors develop the idea of Linguistic Citizenship This notion highlights the importance of practices whereby vulnerable speakers themselves exercise control over their languages and draws attention to the ways in which alternative voices can be inserted into processes and structures that otherwise alienate those they were designed to support The chapters discuss issues of decoloniality and multilingualism in the global South and together retheorize how to accommodate diversity in complexly multilingual multicultural societies Offering a framework anchored in transformative notions of democratic and reflexive citizenship it prompts readers to critically rethink how existing contemporary frameworks such as Linguistic Human Rights rest on disempowering forms of multilingualism that channel discourses of diversity into specific predetermined cultural and linguistic identities The Oxford Handbook of Food, Politics, and Society Ronald J. The Social and Political Potential of Cash Transfers Maxine Molyneux, 2018-10-11 Cash Transfers for all their notable successes have been criticised for their limited ability to move poor households to provide sustainable routes out of poverty This book draws on original qualitative research by leading scholars and development policy experts from a range of disciplines to examine whether cash transfers can have transformative spillover effects on individuals households and communities Case studies from Africa the Middle East and Latin America show that while there are limits to the sustainability of the transformations brought about by Cash Transfers they can bring about changes affecting the social and political integration of very poor households With chapters on Psycho Social Wellbeing Social Accountability and Social Capital this comprehensive volume casts new light on the ongoing debates over the significance of the Cash Transfer revolution This book was originally published as a special issue of The Journal of Development Studies

Growth, Inequality and Social Development in India R Nagaraj, 2012-07-25 With six essays exploring different aspects of economic growth poverty inequality and social security this book offers a critical perspective on India s development experience since independence Incisive and empirically rich the book opens up new vistas in development discourse and informs current policy debates

An East Asian Model for Latin American Success Anil Hira, 2016-12-14 Latin America is at a uniquely important juncture in its history and the history of development more generally Neoliberal market orientated policies are being called into question growth has been volatile and equity has stayed the same or worsened In Latin America there is no clear direction for change This book presents an alternative development path for Latin America based on an East Asian model East Asia remains the only developing region so far with high stable and equitable economic development Based on in depth analysis and the presentation of new and unique material this study provides a new perspective on the lessons of China s rapid development and examines relations between states and companies that have led to greater success by East Asian companies entering new international markets More importantly it highlights how Latin American politics can and must be transformed

Conflict and Development Roger Mac Ginty, Andrew Williams, 2009-03-24 Over the past decade a new awareness of the relationship between conflicts and development has grown Developmental factors can act as a trigger for violence as well as for ending violence and for triggering post conflict reconstruction This book explores the complexity of the links between violent conflict usually civil wars and development under development and uneven development It emphasizes the connections between stable developed economies and civil wars in other parts of the world and examines how structural factors such as the organization of the global economy virtually condemn some regions to conflict and under development This valuable introductory text explains reviews and critically evaluates this complex relationship It focuses on intra state conflicts and complex political emergencies that combine transnational and internal characteristics Attention is also given to inter state conflicts Chapters emphasize how the relationship between conflict and development traverses many scales macro meso and micro and dimensions economic political and cultural Furthermore it explains how different developmental challenges and opportunities emerge along the full life cycle of conflict Specifically the role of poverty state market civil society globalization humanitarian aid refugees gender and health within conflict dynamics are examined The book also investigates specific developmental issues emerging during conflict management and post conflict reconstruction Both authors have a background in conducting research in deeply divided societies and argue that many of the processes connected with war and peace making deliberately write people out of the equation This book attempts to write people in By drawing on contemporary theoretical debates and examining current policies and events the text unpacks the difficult and complex aspects of the relationships between armed conflict and development and makes them accessible interesting and policy relevant It considers how peace making peace building and post war reconstruction are usually more sustainable and successful if politicians policy makers entrepreneurs and those working for international NGOs take on board local opinion and capacity Written in an accessible style the book considers the main contemporary theories and arguments on conflict development and the interactions between the two The text is illuminated throughout with case studies drawn from Africa the Balkans Asia and the Middle East
