Constitution Of Medina Studies In Late Antiquity And Early Islam Vol 23:

The Generalship of Muhammad Russ Rodgers, 2012-03-18 His campaigns military thought and insurgent strategy There are many biographies of the Prophet and they tend to fall into three categories pious works that emphasize the virtues of the early Islamic community general works for non Muslim or non specialist readers and source critical works that grapple with historiographical problems inherent in early Islamic history In The Generalship of Muhammad Russ Rodgers charts a new path by merging original sources with the latest in military theory to examine Muhammad s military strengths and weaknesses Incorporating military political and economic analyses Rodgers focuses on Muhammad s use of insurgency warfare in seventh century Arabia to gain control of key cities such as Medina Seeking to understand the operational aspects of these world changing battles he provides battlefield maps and explores the supply and logistic problems that would have plagued any military leader at the time Rodgers explains how Muhammad organized his forces and gradually built his movement against sporadic resistance from his foes He draws from the hadith literature to shed new light on the nature of the campaigns He examines the Prophet s intelligence network and the employment of what would today be called special operations forces And he considers the possibility that Muhammad received outside support to build and maintain his movement as a means to interdict trade routes between the Byzantine Empire and the Sasanid Persians

The Beginnings of Islamic Law Lena Salaymeh, 2016-11-14 This is a major and innovative contribution to our understanding of the historical unfolding of Islamic law Scrutinizing its historical contexts Salaymeh proposes that Islamic law is a continuous intermingling of innovation and tradition The book s interdisciplinary approach provides accessible explanations and translations of complex materials and ideas

Tolerance and Coercion in Islam Yohanan Friedmann, 2003-06-30 Since the beginning of its history Islam has encountered other religious communities both in Arabia and in the territories conquered during its expansion Muslims faced other religions from the position of a ruling power and were therefore able to determine the nature of that relationship in accordance with their world view and beliefs Yohanan Friedmann s original and erudite study examines questions of religious tolerance as they appear in the Qur an and in the prophetic tradition and analyses the principle that Islam is exalted above all religions discussing the ways in which this principle was reflected in various legal pronouncements The book also considers the various interpretations of the Qur anic verse according to which No compulsion is there in religion noting that despite the apparent meaning of this verse Islamic law allowed the practice of religious coercion against Manichaeans and Arab idolaters as well as against women and children in certain circumstances

The Journal of Jewish Studies , 2007 The Emergence of Islam in Late Antiquity Aziz Al-Azmeh, 2014-03-06 Based on epigraphic and other material evidence as well as more traditional literary sources and critical review of the extensive relevant scholarship this book presents a comprehensive and innovative reconstruction of the rise of Islam as a religion and imperial polity It reassesses the development of the imperial monotheism of the New Rome and considers the history of the Arabs as an integral part of Late Antiquity including Arab ethnogenesis and the emergence of what was to become Muslim monotheism comparable with the emergence of other monotheisms from polytheistic systems Topics discussed include the emergence and development of the Muhammadan polity and its new cultic deity and associated ritual the constitution of the Muslim canon and the development of early Islam as an imperial religion Intended principally for scholars of Late Antiquity Islamic studies and the history of religions the book opens up many novel directions for future research The Apocalypse of Empire Stephen J. Shoemaker,2018-11-09 In The Apocalypse of Empire Stephen J Shoemaker argues that earliest Islam was a movement driven by urgent eschatological belief that focused on the conquest or liberation of the biblical Holy Land and situates this belief within a broader cultural environment of apocalyptic anticipation Shoemaker looks to the Qur'an as a fervent representation of the imminent end of the world and the importance Muhammad and his earliest followers placed on imperial expansion Offering important contemporary context for the imperial eschatology that seems to have fueled the rise of Islam he surveys the political eschatologies of early Byzantine Christianity Judaism and Sasanian Zoroastrianism at the advent of Islam and argues that they often relate imperial ambition to beliefs about the end of the world Moreover he contends formative Islam's embrace of this broader religious trend of Mediterranean late antiquity provides invaluable evidence for understanding the beginnings of the religion at a time when sources are generally scarce and often highly problematic Scholarship on apocalyptic literature in early Judaism and Christianity frequently maintains that the genre is decidedly anti-imperial in its very nature While it may be that early Jewish apocalyptic literature frequently displays this tendency Shoemaker demonstrates that this quality is not characteristic of apocalypticism at all times and in all places In the late antique Mediterranean as in the European Middle Ages apocalypticism was regularly associated with ideas of imperial expansion and triumph which expected the culmination of history to arrive through the universal dominion of a divinely chosen world empire This imperial apocalypticism not only affords an invaluable backdrop for understanding the rise of Islam but also reveals an important transition within the history of Western doctrine during late antiquity Pre-Islamic Arabia Valentina A. Grasso,2023-02-23 This book delves into the political and cultural developments of pre-Islamic Arabia focusing on the religious attitudes of the inhabitants of the Arabian Peninsula and its northern extension into the Syrian desert Between the third and the seventh century Arabia was on the edge of three great empires Iran Rome and Aksum and at the centre of a lucrative network of trade routes Valentina Grasso offers an interpretative framework which contextualizes the choice of Arabian elites to become Jewish sympathisers and/or convert to Christianity and Islam by probing the mobilization of faith in the shaping of Arabian identities For the first time the Arabians of the period are granted autonomy from marginalizing mostly Western narratives framing them as barbarians inhabiting the fringes of Rome and Iran and/or deterministic analyses in which they are depicted retrospectively as exemplified by the Muslims' definition of the period as Jahiliyyah ignorance In the Shadow of the Church Mattia Guidetti,2016-11-07 In his book In the Shadow of the Church The

Building of Mosques in Early Medieval Syria Mattia Guidetti examines the establishment of Muslim religious architecture within the Christian context in which it first appeared in the Syrian region contributing to the debate on the transformation of late antique society to a Muslim one He scrutinizes the slow process of conversion to Islam of the most important town centers by looking at religious places of both communities between the seventh and the eleventh century The author assesses the relevancy of churches by analyzing the location of mosques and by researching phenomena of transfer of marble material from churches to mosques
