Consciousness, Theatre, Literature and the Arts 2015 Daniel Meyer-Dinkgräfe, 2016-12-14 This book brings together essays based on papers presented at the 6th International Conference on Consciousness Theatre

Literature and the Arts CTLA held from June 10 to 12 2015 at St Francis College Brooklyn Heights New York The conference was attended by seventy delegates from twenty countries across the world the twenty three essays collected here come from delegates from twelve of those countries The range of contributions reflects the variety of material presented and discussed at the conference across the fields of philosophy literature fine arts music dance performance and theatre The book the sixth in the series will appeal to the growing international community of researchers active and interested in the study of literature theatre and the arts from a consciousness studies perspective Theatre, Opera and Consciousness. Daniel Meyer-Dinkgräfe, 2013 The study of consciousness has developed considerably over the past ten years with an emphasis on seeking to explain subjective experience Our understanding of key questions relating to the performing arts in theory and practice benefits from the insights of consciousness studies Theatre Opera and Consciousness discusses selected concerns of theatre history from a consciousness studies perspective develops a new perspective on ethical implications of theatre practice reassesses the concept of the guru and offers a new approach to the actor's cool down The book expands the framework from theatre to opera and presents a new consideration of the spiritual aspects of singing in opera conducting for opera and the opera experience for singers and spectators alike Corporeality: Emergent Consciousness within its Spatial Dimensions Maya Nanitchkova Öztürk, 2014-05-01 Corporeality Emergent consciousness within its spatial dimensions develops our understanding of what we can experience through our bodies in relation to the space around us Rather than considering architecture as being about manifestation and mediation of fixed meanings the book focuses instead on architectural space as a field that envelopes us incessantly intimately and affectively We are in immediate contact with that space and the way we relate to it determines how we are able to grasp the realities of the social and material worlds around us This enquiry considers architectural space and its impact on and relation to us from a range of disciplines and perspectives leading from space to sense and to sensibility The theatre becomes a central point of reference on this journey allowing us to understand how space works by linking concrete spatial conditions to corresponding forms of experience It allows showing how the ways we feel think and act emerge from within the rich texture of the pre-conscious and non-contemplative That texture is induced and nourished by our bodily encounters with space Offering a view of how immediate experience is generated in the body this book enhances empirical research into the links between space body experience and consciousness Maya Nanitchkova Öztürk is Associate Professor in Theory and Criticism of Architecture Her academic interests and publications focus on space body relationships and experience of space place as grounds for developing analytical methodologies and interdisciplinary links in discourse and teaching She works at Bilkent University Ankara Faculty of Art Design and Architecture Department of Interior Architecture and Environmental Design She is on the editorial boards of ISI journal Space and Culture and the web journal Consciousness Literature and the Arts Blood, Sweat & Theory Professor of Psychology John Freeman, 2010-01-01 Practice based research is the default approach to postgraduate activity in Drama

Theatre and Performance Yet it is only recently beginning to yield any rigorous theory based guides for researchers practitioners supervisors and mentors As a major contribution to the field this book is a vital How To and How Not To guide which identifies the features attitudes principles and skills of practice based research across a range of countries and contexts forms and applications including a number of successful PhD projects Blood Sweat Theory reviews research informed practice and practice informed research in sections which analyse key concepts locate practice based research within historical aesthetic and educational settings challenge received ideas of practice as thesis distinguish research from reflection and feelings from findings push practice based research into new areas of critical inquiry suggest strategies from first proposal through to submission The book includes extensively written case studies of projects from Hala Al Yamani Annette Arlander Johannes Birringer Elena Cologni Robert Germa Helka Maria Kinnunen Yves Knockaert Lee Miller Felix Noble Allan Owens Helen Paris Yoni Prior Leena Rouhainen and Joanne Bob Whalley

Consciousness, Performing Arts and Literature Daniel Meyer-Dinkgräfe, 2018-09-30 Against the background of personal institutional and cultural trajectories this book considers dance opera theatre and practice as research from a consciousness studies perspective Highlights include a conversation with Barbara Sellers Young on the nature of dance an assessment of the work of International Opera Theater a new perspective on liveness and livecasts a reassessment with Anita S Hammer of the concept of a universal language of the theatre a discussion of two productions of new plays the development of a new concept of theatre of the heart a comparison of Western and Thai positions on the concept of beauty and an examination of the role of conflict for theatre The final chapter of the book is taken up by the author's first novel which launches the new genre of spiritual romance

Awakening '89 -- Notes on Culture and Politics Heinz-Uwe Haus, 2010-05-18 This collection of documents political speeches as well as academic articles by the internationally admired theater director Heinz Uwe Haus reflects positions and actions which he shared with the majority of the people in his country during the fall of the Wall and the reunification of the German nation The reader is reminded of the sheer joy of the peaceful revolution in autumn of 1989 The texts reflect how millions of people reclaimed their basic human freedoms ending not only the post WWII division of the country but de legitimizing the concept of socialist rule

Interactive Art and Embodiment Nathaniel Stern, 2013 Nathaniel Stern's Interactive Art and Embodiment defies the world of interactive art and new media from the perspective of the body and identity It presents the ongoing and emergent processes of embodiment in art and includes immersive descriptions of interactive artworks
