The Cluetrain Manifesto (10th Anniversary Edition) Rick Levine, Christopher Locke, Doc Searls, David Weinberger, 2009-06-30 The Cluetrain Manifesto began as a Web site cluetrain.com in 1999 when the authors who have worked variously at IBM Sun Microsystems the Linux Journal and NPR posted 95 theses about the new reality of the networked marketplace Ten years after its original publication their message remains more relevant than ever For example thesis no 2 Markets consist of human beings not demographic sectors thesis no 20 Companies need to realize their markets are often laughing at them The book enlarges on these themes through dozens of stories and observations about business in America and how the Internet will continue to change it all With a new introduction and chapters by the authors and commentary by Jake McKee JP Rangaswami and Dan Gillmor this book is essential reading for anybody interested in the Internet and e commerce and is especially vital for businesses navigating the topography of the wired marketplace

The Tangled Web We Weave James Ball, 2020-10-06 We all see what the internet does and increasingly don't like it but do we know how and more importantly who makes it work that way That's where the real power lays The internet was supposed to be a thing of revolutions As that dream curdles there is no shortage of villains to blame from tech giants to Russian bot farms But what if the problem is not an issue of bad actors ruining a good thing What if the hazards of the internet are built into the system itself That's what journalist James Ball argues as he takes us to the root of the problem from the very establishment of the internet's earliest protocols to the cables that wire it together He shows us how the seemingly abstract and pervasive phenomenon is built on a very real set of materials and rules that are owned financed designed and regulated by very real people In this urgent and necessary book Ball reveals that the internet is not a neutral force but a massive infrastructure that reflects the society that created it And making it work for and not against us must be an endeavor of the people as well
