Dangerous Or Endangered Race And The Politics Of Youth In Urban America:

Dangerous or Endangered? Jennifer Tilton, 2010-10-03 How do you tell the difference between a good kid and a potential thug In Dangerous or Endangered Jennifer Tilton considers the ways in which children are increasingly viewed as dangerous and yet simultaneously as endangered and in need of protection by the state Tilton draws on three years of ethnographic research in Oakland California one of the nation's most racially diverse cities to examine how debates over the nature and needs of young people have fundamentally reshaped politics transforming ideas of citizenship and the state in contemporary America As parents and neighborhood activists have worked to save and discipline young people they have often inadvertently reinforced privatized models of childhood and urban space clearing the streets of children who are encouraged to stay at home or in supervised after school programs Youth activists protest these attempts demanding a right to the city and expanded rights of citizenship Dangerous or Endangered pays careful attention to the intricate connections between fears of other people's kids and fears for our own kids in order to explore the complex racial class and gender divides in contemporary American cities

After the Rebellion Sekou M. Franklin, 2014 What happened to black youth in the post civil rights generation What kind of causes did they rally around and were they even rallying in the first place After the Rebellion takes a close look at a variety of key civil rights groups across the country over the last 40 years to provide a broad view of black youth and social movement activism Based on both research from a diverse collection of archives and interviews with youth activists advocates and grassroots organizers this book examines popular mobilization among the generation of activists principally black students youth and young adults who came of age after the passage of the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the Voting Rights Act of 1965 Franklin argues that the political environment in the post Civil Rights era along with constraints on social activism made it particularly difficult for young black activists to start and sustain popular mobilization campaigns Building on case studies from around the country including New York the Carolinas California Louisiana and Baltimore After the Rebellion explores the inner workings and end results of activist groups such as the Southern Negro Youth Congress Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee the Student Organization for Black Unity the Free South Africa Campaign the New Haven Youth Movement the Black Student Leadership Network the Juvenile Justice Reform Movement and the AFL CIO's Union Summer campaign Franklin demonstrates how youth based movements and intergenerational campaigns have attempted to circumvent modern constraints providing insight into how the very inner workings of these organizations have and have not been effective in creating change and involving youth A powerful work of both historical and political analysis After the Rebellion provides a vivid explanation of what happened to the militant impulse of young people since the demobilization of the civil rights and black power movements a discussion with great implications for the study of generational politics racial and black politics and social movements

Companion to Urban Anthropology The city is becoming the basic currency of human and non human life a pile of interconnections which makes a series of difficult wholes This volume navigates the anthropology of this medium with the greatest aplomb Nigel Thrift University of Warwick A Companion to Urban Anthropology presents original essays on central concepts in urban anthropology and ethnography Featuring contributions from more than 25 leading international scholars in urban studies the readings cover a wide variety of topics Each essay explores a key phenomenon and is grounded in the author s original research along with findings of other urbanists Classic issues such as built structures and urban planning community markets and race lead to emergent areas of study including borders sexualities nature extralegality and resilience and sustainability A Companion to Urban Anthropology offers revealing insights into the complex forces that continue to shape the urban experience

The Kids Are in Charge Jessica K. Taft, 2019-09-01 Details the possibilities and challenges of intergenerational activism and social movements Since 1976 the Peruvian movement of working children has fought to redefine age based roles in society including defending children s right to work In The Kids Are in Charge Jessica K Taft gives us an inside look at this groundbreaking intergenerational social movement showing that kids can and should be respected as equal partners in economic social and political life Through participant observation Taft explores how the movement has redefined relationships between kids and adults how they put these ideas into practice within their organizations and how they advocate for them in larger society Ultimately she encourages us to question the widely accepted beliefs that children should not work or participate in politics The Kids Are in Charge is a provocative invitation to re imagine childhood power and politics

Community Practice and Urban Youth Melvin Delgado, 2015-10-30 Community Practice and Urban Youth is for graduate level students in fields that offer youth studies and community practice courses Practitioners in these fields too will find the book particularly useful in furthering the integration of social justice as a conceptual and philosophical foundation The use of food environmental justice and immigrant rights and the book s focus on service learning and civic engagement involving these three topics offers an innovative approach for courses

On Loop Alex Werth, 2025-10-21 How struggles over Black sound have shaped Oakland s culture politics and geography Chicago has house Detroit has techno But Oakland slaps On Loop explores the role of Black dance music and sonic politics in recurring struggles over race and space in Oakland California Insisting on the centrality of sound in everyday social movements from the mobilization of funk music and boogaloo dance during Black Power to the policing of the Hyphy movement in the 2000s Alex Werth argues that Black dance music is not merely a soundtrack to or record of urban resistance Rather its very sound waves have animated looping clashes over development dispossession and Black freedom Through studies of downtown nightclubs Lake Merritt and the Eastmont Mall geographies rarely considered yet critical to Oakland s culture and politics Werth reveals how the liberatory sonic politics of funk hip hop and hyphy rap have been met with a repetitive war on nuisance As both a means of empowerment and a magnet for policing Black dance music has transformed not only Oakland s nightlife but also its streets parks and neighborhoods On Loop is a rousing encounter with the sound that moves urban life Youth as/in Crisis Sara Carpenter, Shahrzad Mojab, 2017-08-26 Internationally there is a growing argument amongst policy makers and academics that broadening spectrums of young adults are at risk of various types of material social physical and cultural insecurity In this way the traditional identification of transitions from youth to adulthood marked by points of permanence such as stable employment are beginning to fray Through various academic popular and policy literatures young people today are imagined as being both threatened by social inequality as well as a threat against which our notions of security and social cohesion are constructed This edited collection includes empirical and theoretical work concerning the relationships between youth young adults public policy and educational research with its primary focus being new forms of public policy in Canada that we argue are emblematic of international policy instruments examining the policy and economic participation of young people Examining key sites of youth participation including post secondary institutions community based programs and work employment programs the included case studies examine how young people navigate and learn from everyday experiences of marginalization and violence while at the same time illuminating how these experiences are organized and reproduced through the very institutions that are meant to shape young people's engagement in society Music, Song, Dance, and Theatre Melvin Delgado, 2018 The performing arts is an emerging area of youth community practice that has tremendous potential for reaching and positively transforming urban youth lives and to do so in a socially just manner Schooling in the Age of Austerity A. Means, 2013-02-12 Through a case study in a Chicago public school Means demonstrates that despite the fragmentation of human security in low income and racially segregated public schools there exist positive social relations knowledge and desire for change that can be built upon to promote more secure and equitable democratic futures for young people Augmented and Mixed Reality for Communities Joshua A. Fisher, 2021-07-14 Using mixed and augmented reality in communities is an emerging media practice that is reshaping how we interact with our cities and neighbors From the politics of city hall to crosswalks and playgrounds mixed and augmented reality will offer a diverse range of new ways to interact with our communities In 2016 apps for augmented reality politics began to appear in app stores Similarly the blockbuster success of Pok mon Go illustrated how even forgotten street corners can become a magical space for play In 2019 a court case in Milwaukee Wisconsin extended first amendment rights to augmented reality For all the good that these emerging media provide there will and have been consequences Augmented and Mixed Reality for Communities will help students and practitioners navigate the ethical design and development of these kinds of experiences to transform their cities As one of the first books of its kind each chapter in the book prepares readers to contribute to the Augmented City By providing insight into how these emerging media work the book seeks to democratize the augmented and mixed reality space Authors within this volume represent some of the leading scholars and practitioners working in the augmented and mixed reality space for civic media cultural heritage civic games ethical design and social justice Readers will find
