Controlling Colours Marlies Hoecherl, 2016-01-22 Colour defines our material world operates as a communication tool and creates meaning This book revisits well known and well documented sites or artefacts and explores their colours and colour connotations by looking at various contexts such as processes landscape iconography body decoration or the colour connotations of death

Sacred Landscapes in Antiquity Ralph Haussler, Gian Franco Chiai, 2020-07-31 From generation to generation people experience their landscapes differently Humans depend on their natural environment it shapes their behavior while it is often felt that deities responsible for both natural benefits and natural calamities such as droughts famines floods and landslides need to be appeased We presume that in many societies lakes rivers rocks mountains caves and groves were considered sacred Individual sites and entire landscapes are often associated with divine actions mythical heroes and etiological myths Throughout human history people have also felt the need to monumentalize their sacred landscape But this is where the similarities end as different societies had very different understandings believes and practices The aim of this new thematic appraisal is to scrutinize carefully our evidence and rethink our methodologies in a multi disciplinary approach More than 30 papers investigate diverse sacred landscapes from the Iberian peninsula and Britain in the west to China in the east They discuss how to interpret the intricate web of ciphers and symbols in the landscape and how people might have experienced it We see the role of performance ritual orality textuality and memory in people s sacred landscapes A diachronic view allows us to study how landscapes were rewritten adapted and redefined in the course of time to suit new cultural political and religious understandings not to mention the impact of urbanism on people s understandings A key question is how was the landscape manipulated transformed and monumentalized especially the colossal investments in monumental architecture we see in certain socio historic contexts or the creation of an alternative humanmade seemingly non natural landscape with perfectly astronomically aligned buildings that define a cosmological order Sacred Landscapes therefore aims to analyze the complex links between landscape religiosity and society developing a dialectic framework that explores sacred landscapes across the ancient world in a dynamic holistic contextual and historical perspective

A Cultural History of Color in Antiquity David Wharton, 2022-08-31 A Cultural History of Color in Antiquity covers the period 3000 BCE to 500 CE Although the smooth white marbles of Classical sculpture and architecture lull us into thinking that the color world of the ancient Greeks and Romans was restrained and monochromatic nothing could be further from the truth Classical archaeologists are rapidly uncovering and restoring the vivid polychrome nature of the ancient built environment At the same time new understandings of ancient color cognition and language have unlocked insights into the ways often unfamiliar and strange to us that ancient peoples thought and spoke about color Color shapes an individual s experience of the world and also how society gives particular spaces objects and moments meaning The 6 volume set of the Cultural History of Color examines how color has been created traded used and interpreted over the last 5000 years The themes covered in each volume are color philosophy and science color technology and trade power and identity religion and ritual body and clothing language and psychology literature and the performing arts art architecture and interiors and artefacts David Wharton is Associate Professor of Classical Studies at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro USA

Volume 1 in the Cultural History of Color set General Editors Carole P Biggam and Kirsten Wolf Burial and Memorial in Late Antiquity, 2024-10-02 Burial and Memorial explores funerary and commemorative archaeology A D 284 650 across the late antique world This first volume includes an overview of research and papers exploring bioarchaeology mortuary rituals mausolea and funerary landscapes It considers the sacralisation of tombs the movements of relics and the political significance of cemeteries The nature and fate of statue monuments is explored as memorials to individuals Authors also compare the destruction or preservation of tombs in relation to other buildings Finally the city itself is considered as a place of collective memory where meanings were long maintained via a study of spoliation Art in the Eurasian Iron Age Courtney Nimura, Helen Chittock, Peter Hommel, Chris Gosden, 2020-02-28 Since early discoveries of so called Celtic Art during the 19th century archaeologists have mused on the origins of this major art tradition which emerged in Europe around 500 BC Classical influence has often been cited as the main impetus for this new and distinctive way of decorating but although Classical and Celtic Art share certain motifs many of the design principles behind the two styles differ fundamentally Instead the idea that Celtic Art shares its essential forms and themes of transformation and animism with Iron Age art from across northern Eurasia has recently gained currency partly thanks to a move away from the study of motifs in prehistoric art and towards considerations of the contexts in which they appear This volume explores Iron Age art at different scales and specifically considers the long distance connections mutual influences and shared ways of seeing that link Celtic Art to other art traditions across northern Eurasia It brings together 13 papers on varied subjects such as animal and human imagery technologies of production and the design theory behind Iron Age art balancing pan Eurasian scale commentary with regional and site scale studies and detailed analyses of individual objects as well as introductory and summary papers This multi scalar approach allows connections to be made across wide geographical areas whilst maintaining the detail required to carry out sensitive studies of objects The Language of the English Street Sign Vivian Cook, 2022-03-21 This book opens readers eyes to something they see all the time but take for granted street signs It is a portrait of the signs on modern English streets what they look like who and what they are for how they link to English history and how they form part of life in multilingual England today It describes how their shapes materials letters vocabulary and grammar differ from other forms of written English using a framework based on linguistics typography and writing systems research It provides readable and entertaining insights into an important use of written English illustrated with over 400 examples of street signs The book represents a starting point for the study of street signs as an academic area in its own right Colour Films in Britain Sarah Street, 2019-07-25 How did the coming of colour change the British film industry Unlike sound the arrival of colour did not revolutionise the industry overnight For British film makers and enthusiasts colour was a controversial topic While it was greeted by some as an exciting development with scope for developing a uniquely British aesthetic others were deeply concerned How would audiences accustomed to seeing black and white films which were commonly regarded as being superior to their garish colour counterparts react Yet despite this initial trepidation colour captivated many British inventors and film makers Using different colour processes these innovators produced films that demonstrated remarkable experimentation and quality Sarah Street s illuminating study is the first to trace the history of colour in British cinema and analyses the use of colour in a range of films both fiction and non fiction including The Open Road The Glorious Adventure This is Colour Blithe Spirit This Happy Breed Black Narcissus The Red Shoes The Tales of Hoffmann and Moulin Rouge Beautifully illustrated with full colour film stills this important study provides fascinating insights into the complex process whereby the challenges and opportunities of new technologies are negotiated within creative practice The book also includes a Technical Appendix by Simon Brown Kingston University UK which provides further details of the range of colour processes used by British film makers
