Data Driven Decisions And School Leadership Best Practices For School Improvement:

Data-driven Decisions and School Leadership Theodore J. Kowalski, Thomas J. Lasley, James W. Mahoney, 2008 This book integrates theory and practice in decision making with a specific focus on data driven decision making Applications are demonstrated in the contexts of administration supervision and teaching The book provides a unique contribution to the literature in this field in that the studies of decision theory and data based decision making are integrated Focusing on educators assuming leadership roles in school improvement the book s content is equally relevant for administrators supervisors and teachers The book however is centered on data driven decision making both as a requirement of the No Child Left Behind Act and as a normative professional standard Issues related to accumulating storing and protecting data in districts and schools also are covered Applications in administration supervision and teaching are demonstrated A Guide to Data-Driven Leadership in Modern Schools Leslie Jones, Eugene Kennedy, 2015-02-01 The purpose of this publication is to provide school leaders and other educators with insight into practical uses of data and how to create school cultures conducive to effective data use Practicing school leaders can benefit from this publication as well as teachers who use data in their classrooms to drive instruction Another use of this book is for graduate schools that prepare K 12 school leaders Because of accountability and the importance of data use in schools data driven decisions and the effective use of data are critical In A Guide to Data Driven Leadership in Modern Schools the use of data as aligned to educational reform is discussed Accountability and standardized testing are vital elements of reform The culture must be created in schools to address multi facets of data use which is presented in Chapter 2 of the publication The use of data should guide inform decisions linked to both management and instruction in schools In Chapter 3 the use of data to inform management is discussed and the use of data to inform instruction is presented in Chapter 4 Practices of effective management and instructional leadership are obsolete without effective personnel in schools The use of data in personnel evaluations is explored in Chapter 5

Restructuring Leadership for School Improvement and Reform Abdallah, Asma Khaleel, Alkaabi, Ahmed M., 2023-04-11 The quality of school leadership has a big impact on improvement and inspection outcomes Good school leaders ensure that their teachers have the resources they need to be successful They also create a positive culture where teachers feel supported and appreciated This leads to better morale and higher retention rates Additionally good school leaders can effectively communicate the school s vision to all stakeholders This ensures that everyone is on the same page and working towards the same goals Restructuring Leadership for School Improvement and Reform investigates cooperation staff development resource supply vision transparency workplace stress management and professional development for school leaders as methods for creating a healthy school culture This premier reference source is ideal for administrators instructional designers researchers academicians scholars practitioners instructors and students Decision Making in Educational Leadership Stephanie Chitpin, Colin W. Evers, 2014-06-05 The increased focus on raising standards in education requires leaders to engage in complex decision making about teacher assessment mandated accountability measures and the collection and use of large amounts of data Showcasing exemplary practices of school and district administrators Decision Making in Educational Leadership covers issues concerning the role of emotion ethical and legal ramifications the use of data and complexity in decision making Chapter authors in this research based volume explore what administrators and school leaders actually know about educational problems how they draw upon and revise theories of action for responding to problems and which theories are tenable in educational decision making This important resource provides a broad and international perspective on effective models and methods of educational decision making and shares valuable knowledge about how theory can be translated into practice in a variety of school settings

Using Data in Schools to Inform Leadership and Decision Making Alex J. Bowers, Alan R. Shoho, Bruce G. Barnett, 2014-11-01 Our fifth book in the International Research on School Leadership series focuses on the use of data in schools and districts as useful information for leadership and decision making Schools are awash in data and information from test scores to grades to discipline reports and attendance as just a short list of student information sources while additional streams of data feed into schools and districts from teachers and parents as well as local regional and national policy levels To deal with the data schools have implemented a variety of data practices from data rooms to data days data walks and data protocols However despite the flood of data successful school leaders are leveraging an analysis of their school's data as a means to bring about continuous improvement in an effort to improve instruction for all students Nevertheless some drown some swim while others find success Our goal in this book volume is to bring together a set of chapters by authors who examine successful data use as it relates to leadership and school improvement In particular the chapters in this volume consider important issues in this domain including How educational leaders use data to inform their practice What types of data and data analysis are most useful to successful school leaders To what extent are data driven and data informed practices helping school leaders positively change instructional practice In what ways does good data collection and analysis feed into successful continuous improvement and holistic systems thinking How have school leadership practices changed as more data and data analysis techniques have become available What are the major obstacles facing school leaders when using data for decision making and how do they overcome them
