Maxine Hong Kingston Helena Grice, 2013-07-19 Since the publication of The Woman Warrior in 1976 Maxine Hong Kingston has gained a reputation as one of the most popular and controversial writers in the Asian American literary tradition In this volume Grice traces Kingston s development as a writer and cultural activist through both ethnic and feminist discourses investigating her novels occasional writings and her two book life writing project The publication of The Woman Warrior not only propelled Kingston into the mainstream literary limelight but also precipitated a vicious and ongoing controversy in Asian American letters over the authenticity or fakery of her cultural references Grice traces the debates through the appearance of China Men 1981 as well as the novels Tripmaster Monkey 1989 and her most recent work The Fifth Book of Peace Maxine Hong Kingston will be of value to students and academics researching in the areas of diaspora writing contemporary American and Asian American fiction as well as feminist and postcolonial literature

Maxine Hong Kingston's Broken Book of Life Maureen Sabine, 2004-02-29 The numerous studies of Maxine Hong Kingston's touchstone work The Woman Warrior fail to take into account the stories in China Men which were largely written together with those in The Woman Warrior but later published separately Although Hong Kingston's decision to separate the male and female narratives enabled readers to see the strength of the resulting feminist point of view in The Woman Warrior the author has steadily maintained that to understand the book fully it was necessary to read its male companion text Maureen Sabine's ambitious study of The Woman Warrior and China Men aims to bring these divided texts back together with a close reading that looks for the textual traces of the father in The Woman Warrior and shows how the daughter narrator tracks down his history in China Men She considers theories of intertextuality that open up the possibility of a dynamic interplay between the two books and suggests that the Hong family women and men may be struggling for dialogue with each other even when they appear textually silent or apart

American Writers Elizabeth H. Oakes, 2004 American Writers focuses on the rich diversity of American novelists

Historical Dictionary of Postmodernist Literature and Theater Fran Mason, 2007-02-21 Postmodernist literature embraces a wide range of forms and perspectives including texts that are primarily self-reflexive texts that use pastiche burlesque parody intertextuality and hybrid forms to create textual realities that either run in opposition to or in parallel with an external reality fabrications that develop both of these strategies texts that ironize their relationship to reality works that use the aspects already noted to more fully engage with political or cultural realities texts that deal with history as a fiction and texts that elude categorization even within the variety already explored For example in fiction a postmodernist novel might tell a story about a writer struggling with writing only perhaps to find that he is a character in a book by another writer struggling to write a book The Historical Dictionary of Postmodernist Literature and Theater examines the different areas of postmodernist literature and the variety of forms that have been produced This is accomplished through a list of acronyms a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and several hundred cross-referenced dictionary entries on individual postmodernist writers the important postmodernist aesthetic practices significant texts produced throughout the history of postmodernist writing and important movements and ideas that have created a variety of literary approaches within the form By placing these concerns within the historical philosophical and cultural contexts of postmodernism this reference explores the frameworks within which postmodernist literature of the late twentieth and early twenty-first century operates
