Peter's Halakhic Nightmare John R.L. Moxon,2017-07-20 Did Luke intend Peter's visionary command to eat unclean animals in Acts 10 to suggest the dissolution of the Jewish Law Whilst scholars have argued over sources inconsistent redaction and later reception many have failed to notice here the novel use of a type of transgression anxiety dream John Moxon shows how by the incorporation of such naturalistic motifs Luke takes revelation in a new and decidedly psychological direction probably imitating similar developments in Graeco Roman biography If the vision reveals an illegitimate transfer of disgust within an exaggerated halakha of separation then its target is prejudice and inconsistency not the Jew Gentile divide as such as underlined by the ironic contrast with the pious Cornelius In this reading Luke's non supercessionism is maintained whilst showing him acutely aware of the kinds of nightmare holding many back from the nascent Gentile mission

The Revelatory Body Luke Timothy Johnson, 2015 Argues that theology can respond faithfully to the living God only by paying due attention to human bodily experience Scripture points to the human body and lived experience as the preeminent arena of God's continuing revelation in the world says Luke Timothy Johnson Attentively discerning the manifestations of God's Spirit in and through the body is essential for theology to recover its nature as an inductive art rather than as traditionally conceived a deductive science Willingness to risk engaging actual human situations as opposed to abstract conceptualizations of those situations is required of the theologian Johnson argues He celebrates the intimations of divine presence and power in such human experiences as play pain pleasure work and aging showing how theology can respond faithfully to the living God only by paying due attention to human bodily experience
