Designing Authenticity Into Language Learning Materials:

Designing Authenticity Into Language Learning Materials Freda Mishan, 2005 This book puts forward an authenticity centred approach to the design of materials for language learning The premise of the approach is that language learning should be based on authentic materials drawn from a variety of genres found in the target language culture and that the learning tasks involving these materials should be correspondingly authentic by entailing interactions that are consistent with the original communicative purpose of the authentic text It provides both a theoretical grounding to the authenticity centred approach and demonstrates its practical application in a teaching task reference section In outline the book Refines a definition of authenticity in the context of language pedagogy Traces the historical background to authenticity in language learning back over one millennium Grounds the use of authentic materials in language learning in L2 acquisition research Gives a critical analysis of the authenticity of contemporary language study course books Discusses the use of seven authentic genres for language learning broadcasting newspapers advertisements music and song film literature and ICT information and communications technology Offers a set of practical principles for the design of authentic learning tasks Includes a reference section providing step by step instruction for the design and classroom procedure of learning tasks for materials taken from each of the seven genres

Authenticity in Materials Development for Language Learning Alan Maley, Brian Tomlinson, 2017-11-06 This volume makes a unique contribution to the literature on materials development for language learning It focuses on issues related to authenticity in materials development and includes research based position statements applications of theory to practice and developments of theory from observed practice Each paper concentrates on a different aspect of authenticity and many of them introduce the reader to previously unexplored facets of authenticity The chapters are sequenced so that the book moves from general discussion about the value of authenticity to reports of evaluations of authenticity to reports of the exploitation of authenticity in specific learning contexts Many questions are raised much revealing data is reported and analysed and many pedagogic suggestions are made The contributions here have been written so that they are of potential value to teachers to materials developers to post graduate students and to researchers They are written to be academically rigorous but at the same time to be accessible to newcomers to the field and to experienced experts alike

Research for Materials Development in Language Learning Brian Tomlinson, Hitomi Masuhara, 2010-11-18 This title examines current research in materials development and discusses their implications for the learning and teaching of languages Recently there has been a dramatic increase in the attention given to materials development as an academic discipline More universities are including modules on materials development on their MA in applied linguistics courses and more students are studying materials development in their PhD research Yet to date there has been no publication focusing on reporting and discussing the results of research in materials development This fills that gap reporting on the results of recent research projects in materials development and discussing their implications for the learning and teaching of languages The editors introduction outlines the rationale scope and objectives of the book and reviews previously published reports of research in materials development There are concluding chapters which point out implications for second language acquisition theory and research methodology The book features suggest applications of the reported research for materials development and proposals for future action in research in materials development for language teaching

Authenticity in English Language Teaching Leo Will, 2018 Authenticity is one of the most rampant buzzwords in ELT English Language Teaching Many have weighed in on what authenticity should mean and on how it may be achieved The book at hand is an extensive analysis of authenticity as a term and as a concept within the academic field of ELT The research data comprises virtually all definitions and conceptualizations of authenticity in the international ELT literature However only a limited number of texts contributes to what can be called an explicit negotiation of authenticity A discourse analytical approach is taken to disentangle the hubbub of commentaries and to eventually extrapolate from it six distinct concepts which are attached to the term authenticity Michel Foucault's seminal theories are invoked affording additional insights into discourse dynamics and power structures among individuals and institutions in ELT

English Language Learning Materials Brian Tomlinson, 2008-03-17 This research collection presents a critical review of the materials used for learning English around the world The first section includes a discussion of materials for specific learners and purposes such as young learners self study academic writing and general proficiency The second section presents a detailed study of the materials used in Europe Asia North America South America Africa and Australia and critically evaluates their effectiveness in the teaching of English to speakers of other languages Taking both the teacher's and the learner's needs into consideration the book makes a positive contribution to the future of research in materials development and has practical applications This comprehensive critical analysis of materials in use around the world will be useful for academics researching materials development and applied linguistics and for students on post graduate applied linguistics and ELT courses

Designing World Language Curriculum for Intercultural Communicative Competence Jennifer Eddy, 2022-06-16 This book creatively redefines how teacher educators and faculty in secondary and post secondary language education can become designers with intercultural education in mind The author aligns theoretical frameworks with practical features for revising the modern language curriculum via themes and novel tasks that transfer language learning from classroom to community developing communicative competence for mediation and learner autonomy along the way For novice and experienced instructors alike this book empowers them to design curriculum from transferable concepts that are worthy of understanding and have value within the culture s and to the learner develop assessments that ask the learner to solve problems and create products that transfer concepts or address needs of various audiences that they will encounter in community life and work direct language learners through a spiral articulated program that supports academic career and personal goals Pedagogical features include a glossary of key terms research to practice boxes scaffolded design tasks reflection questions and template samples representing language exemplars from the following languages and cultures Arabic Chinese d Yor b French German Hindi Italian Japanese Korean Ladino Nahuatl Portuguese Russian Spanish Te Reo Maori and Urdu The accompanying online resources offer blank templates PowerPoints and guides for designing bespoke curricula with key performance assessments

Perspectives on Language Learning Materials Development Freda Mishan, Angela Chambers, 2010 Language learning materials development remains a surprisingly under supported aspect of language teaching This book constitutes a much needed resource in the area aiming to support and advance the craft of materials design The volume offers a snapshot of the contemporary influences on language learning materials development from diverse perspectives around the globe These influences include the demands of teaching ESOL in Britain and Ireland the impact of Corpus Linguistics the needs of young learners and of diverse worldwide audiences the development of intercultural competence as well as the integration of L2 acquisition research Contributors to the volume are drawn from a broad range of teaching research and materials development backgrounds The book includes some chapters based on papers given at the MATSDA Materials Development Association 2008 conference

Materials and Methods in ELT Jo McDonough, Christopher Shaw, Hitomi Masuhara, 2013-01-04 Featuring extensive updates and revisions the 3rd edition of Materials and Methods in ELT offers a comprehensive and useful introduction to the principles and practice of teaching English as a foreign second language A popular and practical guide for teachers teachers in training and for students studying methods and materials Features a new chapter on IT in English language teaching new samples from current teaching materials plus a new section on technology for materials and methods Covers how to approach materials and methods evaluation and adaptation technology for materials and methods and teaching in under resourced classrooms Examines the different methods available to teachers for organizing and managing an ELT classroom including group and
